Englishmen Riot in Protest Against Dole System Change

LONDON, Feb. 6.—(AP)—New scales for the British dole payments were demanded throughout the nation today as protests against nationalization of the system of unemployed assistance continued.

The government's action yesterday in rescinding recently promulgated regulations which reduced payment under previous scales in some instances, failed to appease many sections of the British Isles.

A number of protest meetings were held, topped by rioting at Sheffield in which nine policemen were injured and 20 to 30 persons arrested when several thousand persons clashed with police.

Local communities and groups of unemployed in sections where inequalities have been charged—and hardships in some instances officially admitted—registered demands for adjustment of the doles, which, if accepted, probably would bring about general increases in the old rates.

Administration of the dole was formerly local in character but parliament recently approved the government's nationalization plan under which the new dole board has complete authority.

Collected with the creation of the board new regulations were arranged which altered dole payments in some sections and increased them in others.

A general uproar resulted. During recent weeks hundreds of sectional protests, including one demonstration in the public gallery of the house of commons, have taken place. An estimated 300,000 persons attended various meetings in south Wales alone last Sunday.

The protests reached their political crescendo in parliament the last ten days and Oliver Stanley, minister of labor, yesterday announced the government's surrender, restoring the cuts retroactively and promising the parliament new legislation. The cabinet met today to consider the bill it will present, while the board began study of the situation in order to draw up another set of regulations.

Nationalization of the dole system was designed to eliminate variations in rates in some sections, due to local fixity of the scales, and to reduce general dole expenses, if possible.

The Sheffield riot resulted when the crowd tried unsuccessfully to send representatives to interview the city council. Stones were thrown and mounted and foot police had to charge into the crowd before order was restored. A score of demonstrators were held under temporary arrest in the town hall.

Train Wreck Probed.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Feb. 6.—(AP)—An investigation was opened today by Pennsylvania railroad officials into the cause of a wreck of a passenger and freight train near here yesterday in which 32 persons were injured.

new office at the DeKalb courthouse in Decatur by Judge James C. Davis, of the Stone Mountain circuit, superior court, Wednesday afternoon.

The new jurist is the son of the late Charles T. Roan, of south Georgia, and is the nephew of the late Judge L. S. Roan, of the Stone Mountain circuit. His brother is Bruce J. Roan, north Georgia broker. He is a member of the Atlanta and Georgia bar associations and is active in both organizations.

During the recent campaign for reelection by Governor Talmadge Judge Roan was first vice president of the DeKalb organization for the governor. He is a Mason, a Delta Theta Phi and president of the Atlanta lodge of Eagles. He is a graduate of the South Georgia Junior College and a student of the University of Georgia. Judge Roan's term will expire January 1, 1938. He will continue his law practice in other courts, it is understood.

Held in Slaying.

CHARLESTON, Miss., Feb. 6.—(AP) Officers today held for investigation Russell Hock, 19-year-old son of L. B. Hock, a leading merchant of Casella, in connection with the shooting and killing Monday of two members of a theatrical troupe who became stranded in Charleston.

My Cookery News Notes

By RUTH CHAMBERS

Editor's Note: The writer is Ruth Chambers, staff member of the National Life Stock and Meat Board, and especially meat cookery and the planning of meals around the meat course. Experimental cookery has developed a good deal of new information about cooking meat which is contrary to old ideas. This series of articles will give our readers this new information in helpful form, and will also give a series of excellent recipes and suggestions for serving the meat course of the meal.

A LARGE ROAST AND A SMALL FAMILY.

"But what will I do with it after the first meal?" is the frequent wail of the woman with a small family when she is confronted by a man-sized roast. She knows that a satisfactory roast must be one of the right proportions or it just won't be a nice roast at all.

One of the reasons why the meat animals of today are smaller is that they yield roasts of the right shape but of less poundage than the meat animals produced in the olden days. But even at that many women let their families go roastless because the left-overs are a problem. And yet, left-over meat in the refrigerator may be a blessing in disguise because so many savory and quickly prepared "made dishes" are possible with a little ingenuity and a dash of this and a pinch of that.

Secret of Success. Of course the secret of success with any left-over meat dish is to remember always that the meat has been cooked; it doesn't need to be cooked any more—just warmed thoroughly. Then, too, it should be made as different in appearance as possible. The family will never suspect Sunday's leg of lamb in tonight's individual lamb pies and they are ever so good. Of course you may serve this left-over in a large casserole—it will be just as good, and, perhaps more convenient. Try lamb pie and other lamb recipes and you will declare that a leg of lamb is a boon, not a bugaboo.

Individual Lamb Pies.

Two cups chopped or diced lamb, 1 cup diced potatoes, 1-4 cup diced carrots, salt, 2 cups lamb stock or gravy, 1 small onion, 2 tablespoons catsup or chutney, pepper.

Cube and brown the left-over lamb with the onion in 2 tablespoons of fat. Add the vegetables which have either been left over or cooked first, then thicken stock or gravy with flour. Cook 10 minutes or until thoroughly heated through. Pour into individual baking dishes or casseroles. Cover the tops with pastry or biscuit dough and bake in a hot oven until the dough is well baked and light brown. This will take about 15 minutes at 450 degrees F. Serve hot in the dish it is baked in.

Another way of making use of left-over lamb is as stuffing for baked potatoes.

Potatoes With Lamb Hash.

Three cups chopped cooked lamb, 6 potatoes, medium-sized, 3 onions, medium-sized, 1 cup diced fresh mushrooms, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons catsup, 3 whole cloves, 3 peppercorns, 1 bay leaf, salt and pepper. Chop onions. Add mushrooms, salt and pepper and brown in butter. Add the lamb and mix thoroughly with seasonings. Moisten with lamb stock. Pare potatoes. Trim them on one side so that they will lie flat, and cut an even slice off the top of each. Scoop out the hollows as much as you can without breaking them. Fill the hollow with the lamb mixture. Place in a baking pan and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until the potatoes are done. This will take about 30 minutes. Sprinkle with parsley.

Creamed Lamb.

Left-over lamb is delicious as a creamed dish. Make 1 cup of white sauce, using 2 tablespoons of flour. Chop fine 1 cup of cold cooked lamb or a combination of lamb, tongue and veal. Combine the meat with the sauce, season and heat thoroughly in a double boiler. Serve on toast for breakfast, or in patty or timbale shells for lunch. For lunch, cubed celery cooked, chopped mushrooms, chopped egg and seasoning may be added.

Left-over Roast Pork No Hardship.

Do you know that you can make simply marvelous salad from cold roast pork? Use your favorite chicken salad recipe and see if you don't agree with me. And pork a la king in patty shells or bread baskets will do you credit at your very best party.

Pork a la King.

Two cups cold cooked pork, 4 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 cup veal stock, 1 cup milk, 1-2 cup celery, diced, 1 small can button mushrooms, 1-2 cup peas, 1 pimiento, diced; 1 green pepper, diced; 1 glass current jelly.

Port Apple Salad.

One cup celery, 1 1-2 cups diced apple, 1 1-2 cups grated carrots, 1 cup peas, 2 cups diced pork, 1 green pepper, shredded. Cut celery and apples in small pieces. Grate carrots, dice green pepper, add cooked peas and diced meat. Mix with mayonnaise.

DR. D. T. RANKIN NAMED FOR POST AT ALTO

Dr. D. T. Rankin, at present a member of the medical staff at the state hospital at Milledgeville, Wednesday was named acting superintendent of the Alto tuberculosis sanitarium. The appointment was made by the Alto committee of the state board of control.

Dr. Rankin was named to succeed Dr. F. C. Wheeler, who declined to accept the acting superintendent's post. Dr. M. F. Haygood, the superintendent, is on a two-year leave of absence. He is serving with the federal emergency relief administration in Georgia.

ATLANTA CHAMBER PLANS "OPEN HOUSE"

The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce will hold an "open house" in connection with its annual meeting from 10 o'clock to 4 o'clock on February 15. The meeting will be held at 6 o'clock of the same day. The festivities will mark the completion of a two-month remodeling job, which has transformed the old offices into the most beautiful and modern the chamber has ever had, according to H. E. Choate, chairman of the building committee.

Plans have been completed for an all-day reception of the members and their friends, and officers and directors of the chamber will be on duty during the day to greet the visitors.

TEXANS REQUESTED TO DECLINE RELIEF

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Senator T. J. Holbrook, of Galveston, lone outspoken critic of New Deal in the wholly democratic state senate, today called on Texans to decline federal relief except for necessities.

"We should not ask for $2 except for bare needs," he counseled, "for it sets a bad example."

Ship Believed Sunk With Crew of 26

TOKYO, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The Japanese freighter Fuji Maru was believed to have sunk with its crew of 26 today in a fierce snowstorm off Shizuoka.

The vessel signaled for help as it walled through heavy seas and then disappeared from the sight of those on board near-by fishing craft. The fishermen were prevented by rough water and high winds from going to the distressed freighter's aid. The Fuji Maru was a craft of 1,000 gross tons.

"SHOCKING!" Says THE EDITOR OF VOGUE

"SPLENDID!" Says YOUR OWN DENTIST

You can still be civilized and avoid "PINK TOOTH BRUSH"

"THE most shocking picture I ever saw," says Edna Woolman Chase, Editor of Vogue. "Any woman who behaved that badly would never receive another dinner invitation."

But there's nothing shocking about it to modern dentists.

"Splendid," would be your own dentist's verdict. "This is a true educational picture, a graphic lesson in the proper use of the teeth. If we moderns ate as vigorously, if all of us ate more rough, coarse food, dentists would hear a lot less about tender, sensitive, ailing gums."

Dental science explains that since soft, creamy foods have displaced coarse, raw foods, the gums suffer. They get sluggish and often so tender that "pink tooth brush" has become a very common warning signal.

DON'T NEGLECT "PINK TOOTH BRUSH"

"Pink tooth brush" is well known to your dentist.

IPANA and Massage mean Sparkling Teeth and Sound, Healthy Gums

IPANA TOOTH PASTE

He knows that serious troubles, such as gingivitis, pyorrhea and Vincent's disease may follow. And he knows that massage is needed to stimulate and firm your gums.

If you are wise, you will begin at once to massage your gums every time you brush your teeth. Each time, rub a little extra Ipana on the gums. For Ipana with massage helps restore gums to healthy firmness.

Start cleaning your teeth and massaging your gums with Ipana—today. Your teeth will be brighter, your gums firmer. And you can forget "pink tooth brush."

House Body Approves Limit to War Profits

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The McSwain bill to remove profits from war was approved today by unanimous vote of the house military committee.

The bill would freeze prices at the start of hostilities and authorize a universal draft under which the necessary manpower could be recruited along with industries and public services needed for the conduct of war.

2 REPUBLICANS HIT SECURITY PLANS

But Both Solons Admit They Are in Sympathy With Bill's Objectives.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP)—A two-man republican attack was directed today against the administration's social security bill on the ground that it was a "loosely drawn hodge-podge" and would stir up a taxpayers' rebellion.

But both of the G. O. P. commentators cautiously and seriously added that they were in sympathy with the objectives of the program. Despite the criticisms, democratic leaders still maintained that with what they called some "minor" amendments, the bill would become a law.

In other capital quarters, meanwhile, a suggestion was made that a senate investigation be made into the money-raising efforts behind the Townsend plan, and where this money is going. The postoffice department already has looked into this question, but without announced results.

One of the republican critics of the Roosevelt security plan today was Senator Hastings, republican, Delaware. Before the house ways and means committee he pointed out that the taxes imposed would "not take effect until after the next general election," and asserted those taxed would not get back what they put in.

"When you get 40,000,000 people paying a tax to the federal government, I care not how little it may be, I think you'll find a resentment that will be felt by every person in public life," Hastings testified.

The other critic was Representative Treadway, republican, Massachusetts, who predicted that when the committee later this week takes up the bill with its own legislative clerk, numerous changes will have to be made.

House republicans as a whole plan to have a conference on the measure before it is brought up for a vote. Before the senate finance committee, meanwhile, Abraham Epstein, secretary of the American Association for Social Security, suggested that committee look into both the financing and "propaganda" behind the Townsend plan.

The house committee already had sought to obtain that information from Dr. F. E. Townsend, who promised to submit later a statement about his aides and the funds coming in from his organization.

Baby Sans Esophagus Is Starving to Death
GRANITE CITY, Ill., Feb. 6. (AP)—A baby born with a structure of the esophagus, is slowly starving to death and probably will not live more than 24 hours. The infant, a son born to Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Jenkins, of Nanook, Ill., near here, on January 28, has been unable to take any food into its stomach because of the deformity.

The baby was taken to a St. Louis hospital, where physicians said it could not live. It is in St. Elizabeth's hospital here.

Can You Find the Twins?
On your toes, EVERYBODY. Here's the finest puzzle of all—the biggest, best and the most fun. Get out your "spies," sharpen up your pencil—and FIND THE TWINS. To be sure they all look alike, but examine them carefully, TWO, and only two of them are exact DUPLICATES. Can you find them?

There are 20 pictures of this beautiful lady printed on this page. TWO are just alike in every way and are the TWINS you are asked to find. No, it isn't as easy as it looks. Examine them carefully. AT FIRST glance all of the pictures look alike, but upon closer examination, you will see that almost everyone differs in some way from all the others. In some the difference may be in the bow or ribbon bands on the hat, or light or dark braid on the collar. Or some may wear earrings, or necklaces, or both, remember only TWO are exactly alike. It is not as easy as it looks. Search carefully.

HOUSE APPROVES TAX EXEMPTIONS

Senator Ellis G. Arnall, the speaker pro tem, a foe of the sales tax. Because he was acting as speaker, Arnall did not vote on the Rivers measure. "All over Georgia, we have seen homes and farms sold for taxes," the speaker said in asking adoption of his bill. "We can eliminate this and make the home safe for its owner. These homesteads will remain subject to taxation by the counties, cities and local school districts to retire school bonds so we are not cutting off the needed revenue for education purposes."

Fight in Senate Seen.
Asserting that although he favored the exemption at $5,000 and that he thought the house favored that high a figure he expected difficulty in getting it through the senate. Anticipating this he said:

"Let's pass this plan here and send it over to the senate. If the senate does not agree on the amount we can let a conference committee fix a figure that we can all agree upon."

Before the measure was voted on finally a deluge of substitutes, tending to head off the necessity for a conference between the two houses, hit the desk, but all were voted down. Some of the substitutes have fixed the exemption at $1,500 and others would have fixed it at $2,500, the figure most talked of in the senate.

Representative Wilmer D. Lanier, of Richmond county, co-author of the amendment, said it would take "at the most" $150,000,000 off the tax digest, but declared that he felt that this could be supplemented by a tax on intangible properties and by liquor taxes.

"We need the tax on intangibles and we need most certainly ought to tax the liquor and beer which is flowing all over Georgia," Lanier declared. "We ought to relieve the home owner from his burdens and put these taxes upon people who are far more able to pay them."

Little Opposition Voiced.
There was little speaking in opposition to the plan, although Representative J. Howard Ennis, of Baldwin county, in explaining his substitute, declared that the house by its action was removing the needed funds from the state institutions and the common schools as well as "repudiating" bonds and other obligations of the cities and counties.

"Where are the cities and the counties going to get the money they need for operation if this plan is put through?" Captain Ennis wanted to know. "In my home city of Milledgeville we have homes and we have them in our county. They won't be worth anything if this thing goes through."

Lanier and others pointed out that the house already has passed and sent to the senate a constitutional amendment permitting a tax on intangibles and has before it a companion bill which will fix the taxes if the amendment is approved.

"Let's get at the wealth of the state and not tax the poor people," Representative J. J. Flynn, of Spalding county, said in summing up his views. "We can put the tax on intangibles and tax others who are not paying and relieve these poor folks, many of whom are losing their homes and farms because of confiscatory taxes and are being forced onto the federal relief rolls."

Action "Elates" Rivers.
Speaker Rivers said he was "elated" at the action of the house, which he regarded as the "most forward step for relief of taxpayers in recent years."

"If this proposal is adopted by the senate and ratified by the people, it will mark a turning point in Georgia toward the day when there will be general ownership of homes, happiness and prosperity."

The house committee on special judiciary, Wednesday voted approval of the Harrisfield-Almond anti-secession bill. The measure provides severe penalties for sedition, circulation of seditious literature, and any movement tending to overthrow the government.

Tax Limit on State.
A plan to limit the amount of taxes cities and counties can levy is scheduled for final action in the house shortly.

Another lively topic—prohibition—is to come up at a public hearing before the house temperance committee in the house chamber at 3 p. m. next Monday. Somewhat to the surprise of political observers, whisky will be the first subject treated. Two bills relating to whisky, both having referendum and local option plans.

Our developments of Wednesday included: Approval by the senate of a resolution, sponsored by Senator John Carrington, of Windsor, urging congress to pay soldiers' bonus certificates immediately.

Adoption by the senate of the proposal of Senator David Atkinson, of Savannah, to exempt from taxation for 15 years industries coming into Georgia to develop the paper pulp industry.

Denies Adjournment Sought.
An indignant statement by Governor Eugene Talmadge, read to both houses, denying published reports that he would seek sine die adjournment of the legislature in a few weeks.

Introduction in the house of two plans to sell $1,600,000 in rental certificates of the state-owned W. & A. railroad and apply the proceeds to pay past-due debts of the state to its agencies. There were two plans, one to give the money to schools and Confederate pensioners; the other to give $800,000 to the university system and the rest to common schools. The highway department now owns the certificates.

In a letter to Speaker Rivers and Senate President Charles D. Redding, which was read to both houses, the governor charged that the article appearing in an Atlanta newspaper, which was not published in The Constitution, was written in an effort to cause a breach between the governor and the general assembly. The letter said the news article had said that the governor was writing in an effort to get the legislature to adjourn sine die before the end of its current 60-day session.

The reading of the letter was applauded in the house.

With Georgia's Lawmakers...

The senate Wednesday adopted resolutions extending best wishes and hopes for speedy recovery to Senator George Chis, who is recovering from a reported serious illness at the Maceo hospital.

Exemption of paper pulp industries from taxation for 15 years was proposed by the senate Wednesday, as a means of stimulating development of the pine-paper industry in Georgia, which has vast areas of timberland.

The senate adopted 41 to 5 a proposal to amend the state constitution to allow the exemption. The resolution, sponsored by Senator David Atkinson, of Savannah, and others, must be approved by the house and ratified in the general election of 1938 to become effective. Local and county governments would, under the amendment, be authorized to say whether the exemption should be granted.

Two bills and three resolutions to amend the state constitution were signed by Governor Talmadge Wednesday. All measures were sponsored by him.

One bill would give the commissioner of agriculture a four-year term, and another do the same for the commissioner of commerce and labor. The amendments, if approved by the people, will:

Make the proposed lieutenant governor the presiding officer of the senate.

Give the governor and other constitutional officers (attorney-general, secretary of state, comptroller general and treasurer) four-year terms of office.

Give the school superintendent a four-year term.

C. W. Killebrew, assistant city attorney of Augusta, was extended the privileges of the floor in the senate Wednesday.

A proposal to authorize the state to build factories for employment and training of blind persons was offered in the senate Wednesday by Senators Millican and Carrington. One factory would be built for whites, another for negroes. An appropriation of $10,000 was asked.

The house committee on special judiciary, Wednesday voted approval of the Harrisfield-Almond anti-secession bill. The measure provides severe penalties for sedition, circulation of seditious literature, and any movement tending to overthrow the government.

BOLLING FIELD HANGAR HIT BY $100,000 FIRE
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Three airplanes, a gasoline truck, four automobiles and large quantity of aviation equipment were destroyed in a $100,000 fire today at the department of commerce hangar at Bolling field.

The fire, of unknown origin, burst through the roof and spread rapidly. Four alarms were turned in, bringing city fire-fighting equipment in addition to the Bolling field and naval air station apparatus.

COMMITTEE BACKS TALMADGE BUDGET

Board Votes To Keep State Expenses Within Governor's Figures.

The house appropriations committee voted unanimously Wednesday to keep state appropriations for 1935 and 1937 within the budget submitted by Governor Eugene Talmadge.

The chief executive's budget bill, which was offered in the house by Representative J. W. Culpepper, of Fayette, chairman of the appropriations committee, fixes $9,375,000 as the total for 1935 and $9,304,000 for 1937.

The committee voted to keep within those figures after Culpepper said, "I don't care what you do about individual departments, but let's not go above the total sum in the budget."

Needs of the common schools and the University System of Georgia were discussed before the committee by Dr. M. D. Collins, state superintendent of schools, and Chancellor Philip Weltner, of the university system.

Both agreed to the appropriations fixed in the bill, but said they wanted to be "sure to get that amount" and not have the educational program interrupted by a reduction later.

The budget bill fixes $4,000,000 as the appropriation to the state department of education, provided funds arising from the sale of state-owned automobiles, under the act approved March 15, 1933, shall be paid into the general fund of the state treasury, $1,300,000 to the regents.

For operating cost of the board of regents and for aid to the university system the bill appropriates $1,300,000 for each of the next two years.

The committee heard an appeal from Miss Allie Mann, president of the Georgia Educational Association, for strong financial support of schools.

Miss Mann declined to discuss revenue from beer and liquor when asked by Representative J. J. Flynn, of Spalding, if this would not cure educational ills in the state.

"I am out of that question," said Miss Mann. "I leave that entirely to you gentlemen. It's up to you to say where the money comes from."

Paul Doyal, state revenue commissioner, asked the committee to be more lenient in appropriating money to the automobile license tag division. The budget bill specifies $80,000 a year. "It cost us $93,166 to operate this division last year," Doyal said, "and we do not want to put this department in the position where it can't operate."

Executive Session Planned.
Copies of the governor's budget message and bill were handed to committee members, who agreed to hold an executive session at 2 p. m. Monday to take action and report it back to the house early next week.

The budget is based on an anticipated general fund income of between $8,225,000 and $9,500,000 annually for the next two years.

"This estimate is based on the assumption of no changes in the present revenue laws and on a four-mill property tax rate," Governor Talmadge said in his message.

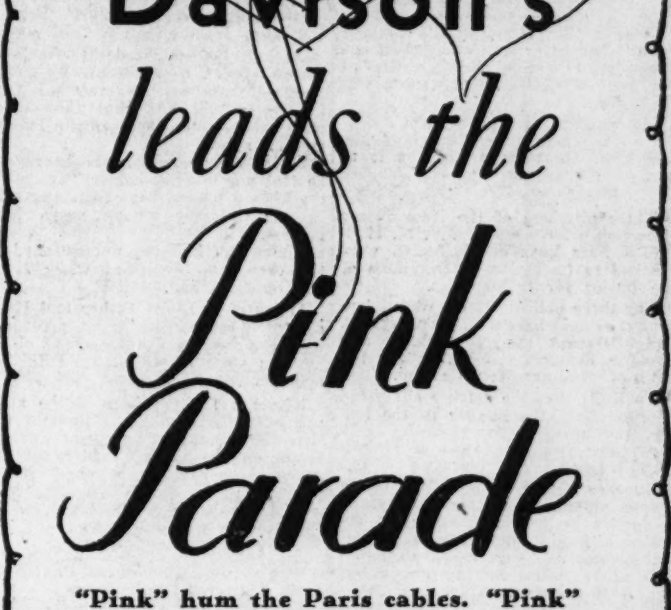

The house of representatives, however, was well on its way today toward a reform of Georgia's revenue-raising system, having voted a proposed constitutional amendment to exempt homesteads valued up to $5,000. One member said this would take at least $15,000,000 annually off the tax books.

Also, the house adopted a proposal to classify property for the purpose of taxing intangibles, and approved and sent to the senate a chain store tax bill.

Other shakeups in the tax system are expected.

Can You Find the Twins?

On your toes, EVERYBODY. Here's the finest puzzle of all—the biggest, best and the most fun. Get out your "spies," sharpen up your pencil—and FIND THE TWINS. To be sure they all look alike, but examine them carefully, TWO, and only two of them are exact DUPLICATES. Can you find them?

There are 20 pictures of this beautiful lady printed on this page. TWO are just alike in every way and are the TWINS you are asked to find. No, it isn't as easy as it looks. Examine them carefully. AT FIRST glance all of the pictures look alike, but upon closer examination, you will see that almost everyone differs in some way from all the others. In some the difference may be in the bow or ribbon bands on the hat, or light or dark braid on the collar. Or some may wear earrings, or necklaces, or both, remember only TWO are exactly alike. It is not as easy as it looks. Search carefully.

35 Big Cash Prizes

Here's the finest array of Cash Prizes that has ever been offered in a contest of this kind. Think of it! More than $3,000 in prizes to be won in this unique competition, and will be paid in CASH promptly after May 31st, 1935. THIRTY-FIVE GRAND PRIZES IN ALL, ranging from $15.00 to $1,500.00, including $500.00 EXTRA FOR PROMPTNESS. Absolutely, you can win as much as $1,500.00, and if there is a tie for any prize in the final awarding, the full amount will be paid to each person tying.

DEFENSE DAMAGES STATE EVIDENCE

No Fingerprints of Bruno Found on Ladder, Police Testify.

to testify that Hauptmann's conduct toward her never was other than circumspect, although he had coffee at her home when Mrs. Hauptmann was in Europe.

He bought her, she said, a "slip" for a Christmas present but both Mr. and Mrs. Hauptmann brought it to her.

Boards Weren't Missing.
Three members of the New Jersey state police force and Dr. E. M. Hudson, a New York criminologist, were recalled to testify to examinations of the ladder for fingerprints.

The three police officers were Lieutenant Paul Sjöström, investigator, and Sergeant Louis Kubler and Trooper Frank A. Kelly, in the bureau of criminal identification.

To Kelly also the defense addressed queries about the ladder in the ladder, the upright of which the state says came from the attic of Hauptmann's home.

Gustave Miller, an outspoken Bronx plumber, also took the stand to testify he had been called to examine a leaking pipe in the Hauptmann home and that in his examination of the attic he did not notice any floor boards missing.

It was Hauptmann's story that Fisch left nearly $15,000 in ransom cash with him in a shoe box; that water leaking into a closet caused the shoe box to disintegrate; and that only then did he know Fisch had left behind him a considerable amount of money.

Edward J. Reilly, chief of the defense counsel, was balked in producing the testimony of Oscar John Bruckman, a Bronx taxicab driver who had known Fisch, that the dead Bronx Jewish furrier had ridden in his cab, displayed a roll of bills, and had given him a $5 gold note for the ride.

"Create Confusion."
Justice Thomas W. Trenchard ruled that unless Bruckman knew Fisch's money was ransom cash his testimony was inadmissible.

Another witness, Theron J. Main, who operates an automotive accessory business in Warsaw, N. Y., asserted a man he thought was Fisch, tendered a $20 gold note in a New York restaurant in 1933, and then showed him more bills.

On cross-examination, Main admitted he thought old notes were yellow-backed and did not know that none of the ransom cash was in goldbacks. Sam Streppone, a Bronx radio repair man who said he had been in institutions for mental disorders "about five times," testified Fisch had left a box with him for about six hours. It was, he said, about the size of a shoe box.

Trooper Kelly's testimony regarding the upright in the ladder, which the state says came from Hauptmann's attic, was interrupted frequently by state objections that the questions of Defense Attorney C. Lloyd Fisher were repetitious.

Justice Trenchard told Fisher: "You create confusion by these irrelevant remarks of yours."

Kelly said he did not recall ever having discussed the upright with Dr. Hudson.

Stain Brought Up.
When Fisher demanded if Kelly had not pointed out to Dr. Hudson there was only one nail hole in the side of the ladder, Kelly replied: "That is absolutely not the fact."

Arthur Koehler, federal wood research expert, of Madison, Wis., had testified there were several nail holes in the upright and that they fitted with nail holes on the beams in Hauptmann's attic.

To another question, Kelly replied he had not found ladders similar to the kidnap ladder were built and used in south Jersey among negro fruit pickers.

The stain, hitherto unmentioned in the case, was discussed while Kelly was on the stand.

Wilentz, C. Lloyd Fisher and Kelly argued whether the stain protruded from the kidnap ladder sections, the interior were displayed amid further argument.

Through the members of the state police force, the defense brought out that Hauptmann's fingerprint was not found on the kidnap ladder but the attorney-general asked one witness pointedly:

"If this defendant wore gloves, his fingerprints wouldn't show?"

The witness, Lieutenant Paul Sjöström, answered "no."

"It's been your experience that criminals frequently wear gloves?"

Sjöström, an investigator of the state police, said 68 photos had been taken of the kidnap ladder sections revealing 125 finger and palm prints, of which eight had been identified.

"Did at any time you identify the fingerprints of this defendant, Richard Hauptmann?" Fisher asked him.

His answer was "no."

Sjöström said the state police used the Hudson process to find fingerprints on the ladder after it had been handled by several hundred persons, including the crime experts from all over the country who were invited by then Governor A. Harry Moore to join his crime commission.

Kubler testified to Dr. Hudson's visit to the Lindbergh estate March 12 or 13 after the kidnapping, and his use of the process Dr. Hudson demonstrated.

500 Prints.
Kelly testified he had been unable to find readable prints in the Lindbergh nursery by using a "black powder" method.

Dr. Hudson, a tall, black-haired, solemn-faced man, said he had first used silver nitrate to get fingerprints in 1919 or 1920 and had later learned the method had been used 15 or 20 years earlier in France. He explained his process and how he had gone to Newell after the state police invited him.

He applied his process, he said, to books and other things in the nursery and then demonstrated his method to the police and set troopers to work on the ladder.

Q. And how many prints were developed, doctor, altogether?

A. Well, that would be difficult to say. There were a great many prints. At one time I think I estimated that there were probably at least 500 fingerprints and fingerprint fragments on that ladder.

Q. That is, 500 fingerprint and fingerprint smudges?

A. No, sir, not smudges.

Q. The smudge is the complete print. I mean, the English use the term smudge to describe a complete, very perfect fingerprint.

Q. There were 500 perfect?

A. But fingerprints and fragments of fingerprints. Wherever you touch a chair, you will get little fragments, little lines of the ridges that are on your finger; and some can be identified when there are only two or three lines if they contain pores, which is a means of identification, and other prints, you have to have a good deal of detail to identify the prints.

Q. Well, how many of these fingerprints did you develop on the ladder were fingerprints such as would be considered of value?

A. Well, I would consider more than 500 of value. I mean I would consider every line, even though there were just two or three lines, it would be possible from the character of that process because it does show pores to identify even a very small skin fragment.

Q. And were there photographs taken of the ladder?

A. I was told that there were. I advised that the ladder be completely photographed, because in the event that some print was identified it would be difficult to tell exactly where that print was on the original ladder, because the photographs are very small things, only two by three inches, and so I advised photographing the entire ladder with a fingerprint camera, so that later on those photographs could be pieced together and made up as such process would not actually be handled, for how long a time would his fingerprints remain upon portions of that ladder handled by him which could be developed, brought out and identified?

A. Well, if after having made the ladder, the ladder has been in a place where I mean in the ordinary kind of a place, a house or barn or garage, something of that sort—fingerprints could be developed at least six months after that, and the conditions were very good as to dryness you could go back a year or a year and a half, or even two years, I am sure.

Streppone First Witness.
Shortly after the start of today's session Reilly called Sam Streppone, who said he was a radio repairman, living in the Bronx.

Reilly showed him a photograph, which he said he recognized as that of Isador Fisch.

Streppone said a radio was brought to his shop by Fisch in May, 1933, and left five days while $3 worth of repairs was done.

Q. Did Fisch have a package?

A. Yes.

Wilentz objected but the radio man was allowed to go on.

The now dead German furrier, the witness said, left the package about six hours and returned for it.

Streppone produced a package as a shoe box, illustrating the size over the objection of the attorney-general. Reilly released him for cross-examination.

Once Adjudged Insane.
Q. You were adjudged insane were you not? Wilentz asked.

A. Yes, 1928. Discharged, no psychosis.

Q. Asked Streppone if he had not been discharged as cured. The witness answered "yes."

Wilentz brought from Streppone a card he had returned to Bellevue hospital in July, 1934, for a mental condition.

Q. Then you have been in an institution since 1928?

A. Yes.

Q. You have been in an institution since you fixed the radio?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You were a state trooper, Sergeant Louis Kubler, a fingerprint expert, was called, and Fisher questioned him on the examination of the ladder for fingerprints.

He told Dr. Hudson's visit to the Lindbergh estate on March 12 or 13, after the kidnapping, and that Hudson was there to demonstrate a new process, known as the "silver nitrate process," designed to bring out latent fingerprints on wood.

Dr. Hudson, Kubler said, demonstrated his process on two other pieces of wood in the basement of the Lindbergh home.

One section of the ladder was used later by Dr. Hudson to make a test in the back yard.

Q. Any prints discovered?

A. Yes, a few; but they were not readable.

Dr. Hudson left soon after, Kubler said, and he continued the application of the process, "off and on" for two weeks.

Q. Eventually, you did complete the processing of the ladder. How many prints were found?

A. About 125 markings were found. Only about 20 were readable.

The witness, responding to Fisher's rapid-fire questioning, testified he was the only man who continued the process on the ladder, but other duties had interrupted him several times during the two weeks.

Restoration Ruins.
Q. Now, sergeant, don't you know one of your superiors wrote Dr. Hudson that 500 markings were taken from the ladder?

A. No, I do not.

Q. But you say definitely now that no 500 markings were found?

A. Only 120 or 125 markings were found.

Fisher, taking a new tack, asked him while in the silver nitrate had when applied to wood.

Kubler said the ladder turned red, but its color could be restored by washing it with a bichloride of mercury solution.

Fisher, after asking about the cleaning solution, inquired "It tends to make your mind permanently to eradicate the fingerprints from the ladder, doesn't it?"

The young attorney then made much of the fact that the ladder prints were destroyed when the silver nitrate coloring was washed.

The witness asserted he did not know that Dr. Hudson had produced 500 prints from the ladder, or that 1,200 pictures had been made of it.

Kubler told Fisher he had never used Dr. Hudson's process in investigating of an actual crime. Fisher sought to recall to him his resorting to the process in taking prints from a picture in the murder case.

"That is not a fact," Kubler replied.

Wilentz Objects.
Wilentz objected that Fisher's questions were "impugning the witness."

Justice Trenchard stopped the questions, observing "You are debating with the witness and leading him."

The witness said a man might make a print at one time and not at another.

Q. So a man might carry lumber around, handle it and still not leave a print?

A. It is possible; yes.

Wilentz elicited the testimony that the silver nitrate was washed from the ladder by Arthur Koehler, wood expert from the United States forest products laboratory, Madison, Wis.

Kubler testified a man might make a print at one time and not at another.

The witness was excused.

Trooper Frank A. Kelly, of the state police, was called to tell of his methods in examining the interior of the Lindbergh nursery for fingerprints.

As a state witness, Kelly told of using a "black powder" method and failing to find readable prints.

Wilentz objected that the testimony was repetitious, but Justice Trenchard allowed Fisher to proceed with his questions.

Beer Stein on Ledge.
A beer stein, Fisher brought out, was on the nursery window ledge, at the side, when Kelly made his examination of the room.

Kelly said the ransom note lay on the ledge near the beer stein.

Wilentz, taking the witness, sought to demonstrate where the beer stein stood on the nursery window ledge.

Q. Did it exhibit to you any gold note?

A. He did.

The witness testified it would "just be an assumption" that he recognized the kind and amount of money Fisch displayed.

Fisch's picture, he said, had appeared in a Buffalo newspaper and he recalled the incident of 1933.

Wilentz objected to further questions about the money in Fisch's possession and Reilly released the witness to cross-examination.

Wilentz Asks Swift Attack.
Q. What do you mean by a gold certificate?

A. I mean one with a gold or yellow back.

Q. Haven't you read in every paper that the $20 gold bills in the ransom didn't have yellow backs?

A. No.

Q. But you're sure the bill you saw had a yellow back?

A. Yes.

Wilentz exhibited two pictures of a man.

Q. You won't say that is the man you talked to that night?

A. I won't say. The forehead isn't as high.

Q. What bank were you in that night?

A. It was the Terminal branch of the Corn Exchange bank.

He said he cashed a check of Rorcoff & Son, having been identified by a man sitting at the desk.

Wilentz ordered the ransom money, seized in Hauptmann's garage, brought in and showed it to the witness.

Q. Was that the way it looked?

A. No, not exactly like that.

Wilentz inquired whether the bill he saw was gold all the way across one side. The truckman said there was gold on one side but it was "all mixed in."

Main asserted he was sure he knew how many of the prints were identified and added further that he would consider it an uncertain job.

The wood of the ladder, when he first examined it, Dr. Hudson testified, was very clean, not discolored, and the nails were bright, not rusted.

The witness said that on the average type of paper prints could be made in a few hours and the powder method of detection would be ineffective.

The silk of the print, the expert added, hardened and special hard brushing of the powder would be required to develop it to a readable extent.

Prints, if not rubbed off, within a few hours, would sink into painted surfaces and could be brought out with his process months later.

Q. Assuming the ladder was made, built and handled by this defendant, how long would you say his fingerprints would be discoverable?

A. If the ladder were kept under ordinary conditions, the fingerprints would be there at least six months afterward, I think.

Q. If you obtained several hundred fingerprints from the ladder and you did not obtain the fingerprints of this defendant, what would this indicate to you as a fingerprint chemist?

Wilentz declared the "hypothetical" question was not based on the facts and asked that the court forbid an answer.

Justice Trenchard suggested that the question should include the possibility that the kidnaper wore gloves. Pope said there was no proof in the case that the criminal wore gloves.

"I think the thing of value to get from this witness is the effect of wearing or not wearing gloves," Justice Trenchard observed. "I think some of you ought to bring it out."

Pope Again Propounds Question.
Pope propounded his question again, telling the witness to discuss the effect of gloves.

The doctor then started his answers. "Under ordinary conditions, if the man made the ladder with his bare hands, the silver nitrate process would undoubtedly reveal his fingerprints."

"If he wore gloves there would of course be no fingerprint impression."

The former naval physician explained that it would be necessary for the ladder's maker to be gloved every time he handled it, for otherwise silver nitrate would reveal the prints he made after building it.

Pope continued his questioning.

Q. Would the handling of the material before being put in the ladder, with the bare hands, produce prints which would remain for six months or a year?

Wilentz objected again, asserting the question did not account for all conditions affecting the wood.

Justice Trenchard said an answer could be given "if ordinary conditions prevailed."

Dr. Hudson asserted prints would remain on the materials six months or a year.

Dr. Hudson said that if the beer stein in the nursery had been handled, fingerprints still could have been developed five hours later.

Pope directed Dr. Hudson's attention to the so-called "attic board" upright of the kidnap ladder and asked him if he recognized it. The witness said he did.

Pope inquired if he had noticed any to the questions, but hurriedly added the explanation. Fisch told her he and Hauptmann had met before.

Wilentz, shouting queries, brought from the girl that she now remembered many things she forgot when first questioned by the Bronx police.

"You were questioned twice by the police," Wilentz asked, "and you told them you introduced Hauptmann to Fisch?"

"Yes," the witness replied.

Nervous in Bronx.
Mrs. Henkel told Reilly, who resumed questioning her, she was nervous when interrogated in the Bronx.

Wilentz interrupted.

Q. You aren't nervous now?

A. I'm used to it now.

Q. Didn't the witnesses in this case assemble at your house?

A. No.

Reilly brought out in her testimony that no effort had been made by the defense to induce the girl to modify the statements she gave to the Bronx police.

She was excused.

Hauptmann, who had been following Mrs. Henkel's testimony as he sat slouched in his chair, less concerned, broke into a wide, pleased grin when she stepped down from the stand.

He appeared happier than at any time since the trial's start. Mrs. Hauptmann gave the witness a smile but it was less expressive.

Dr. Ernest M. Hudson, the New York criminologist, who allegedly discovered 500 fingerprints on the kidnap ladder, was called by Frederick A. Pope as the next defense witness.

He covered the witness some brief questions on his education and background.

Q. Doctor, have you had any experience in fingerprint chemistry?

A. Yes, first being interested in the subject in 1917, when I was in the navy.

Hudson explained he developed a familiarity with fingerprints, taking those of enlisted men in the navy during the World War.

He explained the ordinary method of detecting fingerprints on wood, the use of dry powder. He said he resorted to the silver nitrate process in his studies on the subject after learning it had been developed in France a number of years ago.

Explains Chemical Processes.
The heavy-set, dark-haired doctor gave an explanation of the chemical processes involved in the silver nitrate came in contact with substances in the wax of a fingerprint.

Wilentz interrupted to assert the state would not contest Dr. Hudson's qualifications.

Q. When did you first become interested in the Lindbergh case?

A. About the 10th of March, through the solicitation of Justice Minturn.

Q. What did you do?

A. I was asked if I could obtain fingerprints from wood.

Wilentz objected to testimony on conversation, and the witness readily agreed to advance his story to a point where conversation did not figure importantly.

"On March 13," he recounted, "I was called up and asked to go down to Hopewell, where I could obtain any prints from the ladder, or the baby's books and toys."

"I went down there. We found some fingerprints on the baby on his books."

The witness told of attempting to bring out fingerprints on the baby's toys and later from a section of the ladder.

The day was cloudy, he added, and the violet ray lamp available to facilitate the work was small. Conditions generally were unfavorable.

The next day, he said, the entire ladder was sprayed with the nitrate solution in a search for prints.

Q. How many prints were on the ladder?

A. There were more than 500 fingerprints and fragments, some of which were sufficient to be of value.

Q. How many were of value?

A. I would say more than 500.

Dr. Hudson said he had seen photographs of the ladder taken. Those available, he added, could not be associated with any particular part of the ladder, in which there was 5,000 square inches of surface.

Worked Three Days.
Q. How long were you there with Trooper Kelly and Sergeant Kubler, processing the ladder?

A. Three days, perhaps four.

Q. Were you present when the processing was finished?

A. Yes.

Q. And what did you observe?

A. I've already said a quantity of fingerprints became visible.

The physician said he did not know how many of the prints were identified and added further that he would consider it an uncertain job.

The wood of the ladder, when he first examined it, Dr. Hudson testified, was very clean, not discolored, and the nails were bright, not rusted.

The witness said that on the average type of paper prints could be made in a few hours and the powder method of detection would be ineffective.

Sewer Disposal Bill Given Second Reading

The senate Wednesday read for a second time the bill sponsored by the Fulton and DeKalb delegations which will give the cities of Atlanta and DeKalb authority to set up a sewage disposal plant if they "agree to do so at some future date." This measure already has been approved by the house and is not to be confused with the proposed bill creating a metropolitan sewer district for Atlanta and DeKalb which will be introduced in a few days.

The Atlanta Advertising Club which holds its regular weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at 12:30 o'clock in Rich's tea room, will have for its principal speaker Dr. Luther Brittain, president of the Georgia School of Technology.

ONE OF THE MANY Atlanta HOMES EQUIPPED WITH

MONCRIEF Air CONDITIONING

This beautiful white brick home of Mr. James H. Elliott, 3200 Habersham Road, is equipped with a Moncrief Air Conditioning system using an automatic stoker. It is but one of the many Atlanta homes air conditioned by Moncrief.

With this modern system this charming home is comfortable winter and summer. The air is properly moistened, cleaned and filtered of dust, dirt and bacteria. Rugs, draperies and furnishings are free from the usual dust accumulation and cleaning and redecorating costs are materially reduced. Moncrief Air Conditioning System protects the health of the family by catching and destroying bacteria in the air filters.

Investigate this modern system today—it can be economically installed in either a new home or one already built, and can use coal, oil or gas for fuel.

Moncrief also installs furnaces, weatherstripping, rock wool attic insulation, ventilating and humidification systems and refrigeration for home cooling.

It is actually surprising to see how quickly, pure, cooling, liquid, antiseptic D. D. D. Prescription relieves the itching tortures of eczema, scales, eruptions, rashes and other skin afflictions. Thirty years' success recommends this remedy, originated by Dr. D. D. Dennis. Its gentle oils soothe the irritated and inflamed skin, thus aiding nature itself to heal the disorder. No fuss—no mess. Clear, greaseless and stainless—dries up almost immediately. Stops the most intense itching instantly. Try D. D. D. now. A 35c trial bottle, at drug stores, is guaranteed to prove it—or money back. D. D. D. Prescription is made by the owners of ITALIAN BALM.

STATE REPEAL ISSUE HEARING SET MONDAY

Wets and Drys Expected To Clash at Public Committee Session.

The dries and the wets will meet in their first open clash on the floor of the house chamber next Monday, the date set by temperance chairman, T. V. Williams, for the initial public hearing on the Georgia liquor question.

The hearing will be held on two pending whisky bills, both designed to repeal Georgia's bone dry statute of 1907, with county referendum on the proposal.

One proposes a state dispensary system operated by a board appointed by the governor. The other licenses whisky sellers under the state revenue commission, by county local option.

The first session of the house committee was featured by Representative J. L. Weeks, of Columbia, prohibition leader, walking out of the committee after shaking his finger in the chairman's face over the question of deferring action.

"But I did not bolt out of the committee," Weeks said Wednesday. "In the senate a whisky bill proposed by Senator Beasley, of Greenville, providing for a state-wide referendum on May 15. The senate committee has organized but is awaiting action by the house group."

The long-looked-for bill from the prohibitionists, who want a referendum on the county-unit vote system, has not reached the legislature.

Yeast Maker Named In $100,000 Suit

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Max C. Fleischmann, Santa Barbara, Cal., millionaire yeast manufacturer and sportsman, was named today in a $100,000 slander suit filed by Mrs. Rhoda Tanner Doubleday, former wife of Felix Doubleday, son of the book publisher.

Mrs. Doubleday's suit charges the alleged slander occurred on the golf course of the Valley Club, Santa Barbara, November 3, 1933. She charges that just before she brought suit in Chicago against Harold F. McCormick for $1,500,000 for alleged breach of promise, Fleischmann "wickedly, recklessly and maliciously" contrived to cause it to be believed "that the plaintiff was unchaste and had been guilty of the crime of black-mail."

The complaint, filed in supreme court, quoted the alleged remarks, including a statement that "no lady ever bring a breach of promise suit."

The central record bureau of the Atlanta police will be installed today, Oscar Pendley, secretary to the chief, T. O. Sturdivant, announced Wednesday. Atlanta is the last city of any importance to install a central record bureau, and it is expected greatly to increase the efficiency of the force.

Mrs. G. H. Howard, Mrs. W. T. Hammond and Patrolman J. H. Smith will have charge of the bureau, and all reports by each branch of the Atlanta police will be turned in to them. They will work in 8-hour shifts, keeping the bureau open 24 hours a day.

INSURANCE EXECUTIVE TO ADDRESS JAYCEES
Michael Kley, of the welfare department of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, will address the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce at the regular weekly luncheon Thursday in the Ansley Rathskellar.

Kley's subject will be "Health Facts About Atlanta."

Mr. Kley is a fluent and interesting speaker, thoroughly familiar with his subject. Prior to his connection with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, he was connected with the federal immigration bureau during which time he traveled abroad in the interest of government immigration and citizenship.

Kley addressed the junior chamber some two years ago on the "Composition and Character of Atlanta's Population."

77 RECIPES OFFEREDAT 'FOODS ON PARADE'

Great Cooking School To Be Conducted by Constitution Feb. 12-15.

It is hard to say whether the eaters or the cooks will be more interested in "Foods on Parade," the spectacular big cooking school to be held here February 12 to 15, inclusive, under the auspices of The Atlanta Constitution in the Georgia theater.

Both will cheer for it, however. For the cooks it will be a feast of ideas. For the eaters it will be a feast of food, for it is a foregone conclusion that the cooks will all go home and try out the ideas. And won't the eaters like that!

No other cooking school has brought to the women of Atlanta such a wealth of practical and tested recipes as "Foods on Parade." The sessions would be worth going to if only to receive each day the pastel colored, compact little folder which contains these recipes. A different set of recipes will be distributed each day, and it should be noted that no "back days" recipe sheets will be handed out. The only way to get a complete set of the 77 recipes is to be at the cooking school every day.

Miss Ruth Chambers, who is to conduct "Foods on Parade," will see to it that each day's set of recipes contains in addition to the pies, cakes and salads which adorn the usual cooking school program, a plentiful supply of recipes for preparing meat, the main dish of the meal. Not only will she suggest meat dishes to serve for every occasion (and condition of the pocketbook), but she will tell what particular vegetables and desserts should accompany the entrée to make the whole meal an appetizing combination.

In the four days "Foods on Parade" will be held here, a total of 77 splendid, tested recipes will be given to the women who attend. Not only that, but a great many of these recipes will actually be prepared before their eyes by Miss Chambers, and she will tell her audience every little quirk and trick she knows about how to make these dishes successful. With all its dramatic character "Foods on Parade" remains one of the most practical cooking schools that has ever been produced. Its main purpose is to

INTERIOR DECORATIONSCHOOL OPENS HERE

First Course of Kind in South Offered Full Class.

The only school of interior decoration in the south opened its first course Wednesday to full class of men and women who have registered for the course. Mrs. Alice Norton, for years recognized in Atlanta for her superb work along the lines of interior decoration, is the founder and one of the instructors of the school.

In her opening address to the class Mrs. Norton stated she was only answering a demand which had long been felt in the south. "Women, as well as men," said Mrs. Norton, "are becoming more and more home-conscious." She emphasized the wide, uncrowded field for the student who wished to make interior decoration his or her vocation.

Interior Decoration, which offers a four-month course of practical interior decoration combined with the theoretical, will teach the fundamentals of the art and aims to build a firm foundation for practical work.

Mrs. Norton introduced her instructors to the class. Miss Belle Albersson, of the Art Institute of Chicago, and Miss Nancy Downing, of the New York School of Interior Decoration and Cornell University, will be her co-workers in the school.

There are both morning and evening classes, held two days a week, and Mrs. Norton spoke of plans, already being laid, for a special summer course for high school graduates who would like to enter the field of interior decoration in the fall. A delayed class for those who were unable to start with the class on Tuesday will be started about March 1.

PROSPECTIVE MOTHERS UNDER CARE OF BOARD

The state health department said Wednesday that more than 2,500 prospective mothers and 5,000 infants under one year of age were under care of 80 federal emergency relief nurses directed by the state board of health at the close of 1934.

Dr. T. F. Abernethy, director of the state department of public health, said that "this pre-natal and post-natal care is expected to go far toward reducing infant and maternal mortality in Georgia."

He said these 80 nurses are in addition to the 10 special tuberculosis nurses on duty in the state, and that during the year the nursing staff made 18,000 visits to prospective mothers, 8,000 visits to infants under one year and 21,000 visits to pre-school children.

The director said the nurses gave approximately 151,000 inoculations against typhoid fever, 12,000 against diphtheria and 4,500 against smallpox.

Better Than WhiskeyFor Colds and Coughs

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspirin, the two-minute relief for colds and coughs due to colds. Proclaimed by the people as quicker and more effective than whiskey, or rock and rye.

All drug stores are supplied with the wonderful elixir, so all you have to do is to tell the clerk to serve you two teaspoonfuls of Aspirin. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel the distressing symptoms of your cold fading away within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you to try it. Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children, for Aspirin is the easiest to take and most agreeable cold remedy for children as well as adults. Quick relief for catarrhal croup and choking up with cold at night.—(adv.)

GERMAN BARTER ON COTTON 'DEAD'

Roosevelt Pronounces Doom After Protracted Negotiations.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Two foreign trade hopes dwindled away today toward the vanishing point.

President Roosevelt said the cotton barter deal with Germany definitely was dead.

The state department reported that most of its consular staff in Russia was to be withdrawn—a reflection of the recent Russian trade-debt negotiations collapse.

The cotton barter plan, contemplating the exchange of 500,000 bales of American cotton, was advocated by George N. Peek, of the Export-Import bank, but opposed by Secretary Hull.

The direct cause for collapse of the plan was the offer of Germany to pay for only 25 per cent of the cotton in cash, the rest to be paid in German goods. Mr. Roosevelt, at a press conference today, said the German goods raised a question of the anti-dumping laws.

Nevertheless, officials went ahead with plans for reciprocal trade agreements.

Hull today described the administration's foreign trade expansion program as designed to cure a "sure enough case of jitters under the most embargo high tariff that has ever been enacted."

He was replying to a declaration last night by Representative Gearhart, republican, California, that his district was concerned lest the grape tariff be reduced.

The state department, in formally announcing its Moscow consular plans, said the consulate general office in the Russian capital would be abolished and Consul General George Hanson, now on leave in this country, probably transferred to another post.

sat in the automobile during the hold-up. Positive identification of Randall also was made by Andrew Watkins, negro delivery boy, who was in front of the store at the time of the robbery.

Neither Redman nor the negro delivery boy was able to identify Leland Harvey positively as an active participant in the robbery.

Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole Wednesday night sent the requisition

Tiny Giver Aids Fund for Zoo

Betty Frances Castlen, 20-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Colvin Castlen, Wednesday called on Lewis Gordon, treasurer for the $50,000 dime campaign for the new zoo, to give her dime, together with eight more taken from her own savings in her toy savings bank. to Richmond authorities for the return of Smith and Randall.

A. S. Murray, operator of a grocery store at 1024 North Highland avenue, N. E., Wednesday night identified a picture of Randall as one of the men who five minutes before Redman's store was held up came into his store and acted suspiciously, but left, as there were several customers in the store at the time.

While Atlanta authorities were busy connecting Smith and Randall with the holdup of the store here,

Chief of Police Ben T. Watkins and Captain G. Garrett, of the Macon police department, arrived in Richmond to assist Richmond police in the investigation of Harvey, Smith, Randall, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Twyman and two Macon women, Elsie McCall and Lois Reid, all taken in the police roundup Saturday afternoon.

The Macon officers will interview the prisoners today and it is expected they will confront them with details of a recent safe robbery in Macon. A ring thought to have been stolen in the break was found on Smith after his arrest.

than, and agreed upon yesterday at a White House conference with congressional leaders. This measure is to be placed on the Rayburn holding company bill as a rider after it reaches the senate from the house. Its details are to be worked out later.

The measures are the culmination of years of study of the holding company by the federal trade and power commissions and the house interstate commerce committee.

Other Provisions.

The bills also put under federal regulation electric operating companies engaged in interstate commerce—companies which have been free from any regulation.

The commission is directed to require, immediately after January 1, 1940, every registered holding company to dispose of securities or to be reorganized or dissolved in so far as is necessary to make each company cease to be such an organization. Some exceptions for continuance of holding companies upon the approval of the federal power commission may be allowed if they receive a certificate of public necessity and convenience.

Zoo Roll of Honor

The following organizations and business firms in Atlanta have contributed 100 per cent, a dime from every person in each organization or firm, toward the Candler zoo fund:

- The Atlanta Constitution.
- The Atlanta police department.
- The Atlanta fire department.
- Associated Press night office.
- Boy Scouts Troop No. 49.
- Department of industrial relations, state capitol.

department was 100 per cent for the zoo being accepted by the city.

"While I have not been able to contact every man as yet," the chief said, "there is no doubt but that the fire department is among the city's first 100 per cent organizations. We are enthusiastic about the campaign and are happy to be among the leaders in putting it in motion."

The stream of bright silver dimes was beginning to roll in earnest.

Scout Troop Over Top.

Troop 49 of the Atlanta Boy Scout organization, sponsored by the Capital View Presbyterian church, came in next with the announcement that the troop had subscribed more than 100 per cent with 32 silver dimes. This is the first of the 134 troops, with approximately 3,000 Scouts in the Atlanta council to make their full subscription to the cause. Others announced, however, that they would have their rolls complete, a dime from every one, today or Friday.

Members of the troops who contributed are D. A. Allen, E. Arheine Jr., J. Arnold Jr., O. J. Daggarly, J. Bear, G. Brannon, C. C. C. Roy Epperson, W. J. Chief of Police Ben T. Watkins and Captain G. Garrett, of the Macon police department, arrived in Richmond to assist Richmond police in the investigation of Harvey, Smith, Randall, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Twyman and two Macon women, Elsie McCall and Lois Reid, all taken in the police roundup Saturday afternoon.

The Macon officers will interview the prisoners today and it is expected they will confront them with details of a recent safe robbery in Macon. A ring thought to have been stolen in the break was found on Smith after his arrest.

A Thousand Dimes for Housing the New Zoo!

J. J. Haverty, public spirited Atlantan, on Wednesday sent to The Constitution his check for $100, representing a donation of 1,000 dimes to the campaign to raise $50,000 dimes to provide proper quarters at Grant park for the animals and birds Asa G. Candler has offered to give the city.

of that organization for the success of the drive and said the addition of the Candler animals to the zoo would make it a great drawing card for visitors and undoubtedly induce many visitors to prolong their stay in the city.

A. L. Kinard, city policeman and son of Cyclorama Patrolman Kinard, who has been stationed at Grant park for years and is known to tens of thousands of children and visitors, sent 10 dimes a name for the individual member of the police force to subscribe.

John L. Hudson, president, pledged the aid of the Atlanta Stamp Society in the zoo campaign.

Mr. Gordon Wednesday suggested that the first organizations in different groups be officially designated sponsors for certain individual animals in the Candler collection. Thus the first school or class to contribute 100 per cent might sponsor one of the 10 monkeys and be given the privilege of selecting a name for the animal. The name of the class could be placed at the side of the cage in Grant park which is the animal's home and the all members of the class could now always, that this was their own special monkey, named by them and sponsored by them.

Similarly the first church, the first group of Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, military unit, department store, woman's club, etc., etc., could be made sponsors of an animal each.

O. L. Freeman of the Atlanta theater, announced Wednesday that he would gladly place a "zoo bank" in the lobby of his theater and at the same time he contributed 10 dimes personally to the cause.

$50,000 Estimated Value.

George I. Simons, general manager of city parks, Wednesday estimated the value of the Candler zoo at $50,000. He said that the city had previously announced estimates of its value have been entirely too low.

"Mr. Candler paid about $40,000 for the collection of animals and birds and the depression was at its height and when the cost of animals was unprecedentedly low," Simons asserted. "The collection which he has, so generally, offered the city without cost is worth at least $50,000 on the present market."

Chief Sturdivant was emphatic in his approval of the campaign for $50,000 dimes and said he would guarantee the police department 100 per cent contributors.

"Yes, indeed, the police department to a man will give the dime," the chief said. "Announce this department 100 per cent. I guarantee that every man on the force will help move those animals and birds to Grant park where all may see them."

Cone Praises Movement.

"I congratulate The Constitution on this movement," said Recorder John L. Cone. "It is one of the finest things for the benefit and pleasure and well being of the city as a whole that has been done in many years and I'm glad to see it in my paper, but to endorse the idea and to urge everyone else to be a giver, for as much as they can spare, to the fund."

"It is a great thing for the city of Atlanta to be given a new zoo by Mr. Candler," wrote J. J. Haverty in making his gift of $100 to the fund. However, this is nothing new, as the Candler have done so much for Atlanta.

"What a happiness the new zoo will give to Atlanta's children!"

"It gives me much pleasure to be able to send you herein 1,000 dimes to help out the city with the work necessary to house and take care of the new zoo."

Legislators Back Drive.

Over in the state capitol the Georgia legislature took individual cognizance of the story of the Candler gift and its concomitant campaign. Many members in both houses tendered their dimes, or more, to the fund. Speaker Ed Rivers was one of the first, with President Redwine, of the senate, running a close second. Representative Paul Lindsay, of DeKalb, contributed five dimes, while Guess, of DeKalb, gave two. Almond, of Fulton, made his gift last, contributing 10 dimes, while other members who contributed included:

Culpepper, of Fayette; Hartsfield, of Fulton; Ramsey, of Fulton; Ansley, of DeKalb; Arnall, of Candler; Booth, of Barrow; Peoples, of Barrow; Campbell, of Newton; Williams, of Coffee; Dyer, of Coweta; McCutcheon, of Whitfield; Harris, of Richmond; and Mrs. Coxon, of Long, only woman member of the house.

Chancellor Philip Weltner, of the state university system, is another who gave his gift as is State Superintendent of Schools M. D. Collins.

Perhaps, who knows, the house and senate will place themselves in the 100 per cent column by tonight!

TAKES THE FAT OFF HIPS, THIGHS WAISTS AND ANKLES

Leaves Flesh Firm—No Wrinkles—Wonderfully Improves Your Health or Nothing to Pay.

Here's a woman writing from the nation's capital—let's read what Mrs. Nettie Smith, of Washington, D. C., says: "I weighed 175 when I started taking your wonderful Kruschen Salts. The first week I lost 3 lbs. and the second week I lost 12 lbs. It is wonderful."

One-half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a cup of hot water first thing every morning enables you to safely and comfortably get rid of excess fat and become youthfully slender all while it protects your health.

This daily health drink tastes better when you add the juice of half a lemon.

Physicians prescribe it—millions of folks all over the world take this little daily dose—actually a health treatment—to keep physically fine and fit—energetic—zealous for work and play. Excess fat and petty ailments go or money back—a jar that costs but a little less than one person's 4 weeks and you can get it at any drug store in the world.

Stamp Group Demands Farley Issue's Recall

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP)—The Washington Philatelic Society tonight demanded that Postmaster-General Farley recall and destroy the sheets of imperforate and ungummed stamps which were issued by him to a few stamp collectors.

The group, through its board of governors, formally protested the plan advanced by Farley to place on sale through the Philatelic agency in Washington to all interested stamp collectors similar sheets of the imperforate stamps.

If its first suggestion of recalling all the stamps is not feasible, the local group recommended that the stamps be placed on sale at all first-class postoffices in sufficient quantities to satisfy all collectors.

Copies of the resolution were forwarded to President Roosevelt, Farley and interested congressmen.

If the Telephone were Not There!

MANY TIMES each day you reach for the telephone on your desk at the office or in its familiar spot at home. It is an old and trusted friend. You scarcely give a thought to what it means to a busy day.

Yet suppose the telephone were not there! Suppose—for a week—or a month—you could not call anybody by telephone and nobody could call you! The whole machinery of business and the home would be thrown out of gear. Orders would be lost—efficiency and profits reduced. You would be out of touch with your world.

America needs quick, reliable telephone service to get things done in the brisk, crisp American manner. And it enjoys the best service in the world. America leads in telephone service. In relation to population there are six times as many telephones in this country as in Europe and the telephone is used nine times as much.

Greater progress has been made in this country because of the Bell System's one policy, one system and universal service.

FULTON HOSPITAL IS HOPE OF ADAMS

Chairman Expresses Ambition as $75,403 Grady Fund Is Voted.

A county-operated hospital which will rival any in the country is the hope of Dr. C. R. Adams, chairman of the board of county commissioners, who told his colleagues Wednesday at their monthly meeting that he is now considering plans for such an institution and hopes to see them realized before the expiration of his present term.

Dr. Adams' statement came when the county appropriated $75,403.35 to Grady hospital for the year 1935, a $5,000 increase over last year's appropriation. Dr. Adams warmly praised the work of Grady, in voting for the appropriation which was requested by S. C. Dobbs, chairman of the hospital board, and Dr. J. B. Franklin, superintendent.

The commission also voted a $5,000 appropriation for St. Joseph's clinic.

Edwin F. Johnson was authorized to negotiate with H. Chandler Egan, former amateur golf champion, for the construction of a golf course on the site of old North convict camp which was recently destroyed by fire. The cost of the development is not to exceed $12,000, and under Egan's plan the work will be done under the constant supervision of experts. Johnson said that he will go ahead with plans immediately and that Egan will make a visit here in April for further inspection of the site. Outlay during the present year for the work, he said, will not exceed $5,000.

A delegation of negroes appeared before the board and protested the commission's action in setting aside a special elevator for the use of the messenger boys to use the white elevators. The matter was referred to the police committee with power to act.

Rewards Are Showered Upon Finder of Bonds

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(UP)—Honesty pays—at the rate of $70 a month, a $200 bonus and $25 on the side.

Frank Gees, 75-year-old "sandwich signboard" man, got all these tonight for having turned over to police a wallet containing $25,000 in negotiable bonds which he found on the sidewalk.

The surety company, after a meeting of its board, provided the bonus. The bond company offered the job for three months, and for life after that if Gees turns out to be worth hiring.

Another bank, which had no interest in the wallet, gave him $25 on general principles. Gees bought a pair of shoes.

INFLATION IS SEEN IN BANKING BILL

that really to accomplish anything." Cutting's viewpoint was held also by a sizeable, though minority group, of which Senator Thomas also is representative. Thomas wants the government to buy up the reserve banks and take absolute control. Cutting wants the banks nationalized.

While Congress was discussing the measure and wondering just how far the administration was ready to back it—President Roosevelt described it as a tentative draft—the chief executive told newspapermen the measure expressed the general objectives of the administration.

Glass cites breach. It was drawn by experts of the treasury, federal reserve board, and deposit insurance corporation, and curiously enough, it was learned, the bill must now go right back to the agencies for an expression of their official views on it, since the experts might not have represented the specific attitude of their chiefs. Meanwhile, conservative opposition, rallied around the figure of Carter Glass, co-author of the original federal reserve act.

Glass, chairman of the banking subcommittee, had little to say regarding an indicated move to prevent his group from handling the bill. Chairman Fletcher, of the committee, had held out a strong possibility that the full group would consider the bill.

Nevertheless, it was clear that if such a course is followed, Glass, already irked by what he considers despite explanations, a breach of faith on the part of Governor Eccles, of the federal reserve board, will make an immediate and vigorous fight. A Virginian said Eccles promised to let him see the measure before it was introduced.

The bill as submitted to the capital by the downtown agencies would make permanent the present temporary system of bank deposit insurance and would make far-reaching changes into the federal reserve act.

A bitter struggle was ahead in particular on the provision vesting power in Washington over purchase and sale of government securities. The federal reserve bank, an authority which they now hold themselves. The bill would create a committee to take charge of this.

INSURGENTS FIGHT VAINLY FOR DOLE; REVOLT PUT DOWN

Hill but thus far no decision has been reached. Only by a 10-to-10 vote did the appropriations committee finally put down the insurgent rebellion today.

First, however, the knees of presidential supporters were set to trembling by a 9-to-8 vote for the dole. At least one committee member was in direct contact with the White House during the effort to gain the tie.

Senators Adams, of Colorado, and Copeland, of New York, democrats, made plans, however, to resume their attempt to scuttle the administration's bill when the appropriations committee reassembles tomorrow to report the measure to the senate.

If they fail to get the substitute adopted by the committee, they intend to take the issue to the senate floor.

Support Sought. But tonight uneasy administration adherents led by Senator Byrnes, democrat, South Carolina, were busy drumming up support for the full sum that will permit the president to launch a public works program to put 3,500,000 men now on relief rolls to work.

Friends of the bill asserted they had no fear that the Roosevelt plan would be defeated in the senate. They pointed out that it was a conservative group, including Senator Glass, democrat, Virginia, chairman, who supported the plan to continue the dole.

Nevertheless the vigor with which the proposal was supported surprised the White House. It was understood that a group of senators planned to try to amend the measure to end direct relief with the $880,000,000 allocation for that purpose.

There was no dissent in the committee today over adopting recommendations of the democrats eliminating broad public works at frequent intervals.

Senator Adams, who first proposed that the bill's appropriation be limited to $1,880,000,000, yielded to Copeland, who fixed the figure at $2,800,000,000.

Boy Scout Troop Gives 100 Per Cent to Zoo Fund

Boy Scouts of Troop 49 presented Mayor James L. Key with a collection of 32 bright dimes Wednesday when they visited their Scout hut. the Colorado senator said, was to protect the credit of the government, adding he thought a $5,000,000 expenditure would endanger the nation.

"If we establish a policy that will cost $5,000,000,000 and it doesn't work out that would be disastrous." "At this rate for 3,500,000 men, $5,000,000,000 won't be enough," Adams said.

Seek Substitute. Six republicans, Hale, Keyes, Steiwer, Dickinson, Townsend and Carey joined the four democrats, Glass, Copeland, Adams and McCarran in voting for the proposed substitute.

Supporting the Roosevelt program were these democrats: Hayden, Thomas, Oklahoma; Byrnes, Russell, Coolidge, Bankhead, O'Mahoney, McAdoo, Truman, and Republican Norbeck, of South Dakota. Senator Nye, republican, North Dakota, was reported as not voting.

Three democrats, Senators McKellar, of Tennessee; Tamm, of Maryland; and Overton, of Louisiana, were absent today, are slated to attend the committee meeting tomorrow when another vote probably will be taken. Administration friends expect to gain strength by the additions.

Relief officials reiterated that money was being distributed among the states on a "day-to-day" basis.

In some states, they added, unemployed highways would permit continuing relief "several days" after Sunday.

U. S. Tax Collections Show Big Increase

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(UP)—Government tax collections are booming as the result of new levies and business improvement in 1934, the bureau of internal revenue reported today. The gain was reported as 43 per cent over 1933.

Total tax collections in 1934 amounted to $2,904,172,572, compared with $2,060,947,270 in 1933.

Action to Insure Harmony. Secretary Wallace said at his press conference that the action was taken to insure the "greatest possible harmony" within the administration.

"Some people with the highest ideals don't have the same conceptions," he added.

Asked if any objections had been held to the social or economic views of the men concerned Wallace merely replied: "The situation was more or less inevitable."

Much of the same situation which was brought to light today occurred a year ago when a split in AAA ranks led to the resignation of George N. Peek as administrator.

But Peek was on the conservative and the losing side at that time. Frank was one of those most active in ousting Peek—or at least Peek sympathizers said so and were bitter toward the former Chicago corporation manager.

Dr. Frederick C. Howe, head of consumers' counsel, was demoted in the shuffle.

Davis said, however, that Howe would be retained "in an educational capacity."

For some time, officials who disliked the attitude of the consumers' counsel have blamed Jackson more than Howe. Jackson is a former newspaperman and on the house floor last week Representative Fish, republican, New York, charged he had contributed to communist movements.

Whether Frank would be retained with the administration was in doubt. The president persuaded Peek to remain but today Mr. Roosevelt said the AAA shakeup seemed a purely internal reorganization and that he had not figured in it.

Officials said that if they went they would do so on their own accord since both were highly regarded at AAA.

The difference which caused the liberal-conservative split was due, one of those dismissed charged, to a growing indifference among administration leaders to consumer protection under AAA marketing agreements.

But spokesmen for Secretary Wallace and Davis said Frank and those who resigned were trouble makers who let their social theories stand in the

RECEIVER IS REFUSED CHICAGO STOCK HOUSE

Judge Pomeroy Says Action Unnecessary in Kopald-Quinn Company Case.

Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy, in Fulton superior court, Wednesday denied a petition for temporary receiver brought against Kopald-Quinn Company, securities house with headquarters in Chicago which has maintained a branch office in Atlanta.

The petition was originally brought by G. W. Lewis, of Ocala, a customer of the firm, who later was joined by Andrew Huxton, of Atlanta, and the American Surety Company as intervenors. Roy S. Drennon and Walter A. Sims were attorneys representing the petitioner, while M. F. Goldstein represented the American Surety Company. John T. Dennis was attorney for the defendant.

Judge Pomeroy, in announcing his ruling, said he had not been convinced by the evidence that the petitioner could recover under the law and therefore did not consider the appointment of a receiver necessary.

The judge referred to charges of fraud made by the petitioner but said he did not consider it the province of the court to rule on these features under the present legal process.

Attorney Sims, in his summing up for the petitioner, charged that Kopald-Quinn Company had operated what was a bucket shop and declared that Lewis would be granted a verdict for recovery of his losses at a jury trial. It was brought out that the company had stated it planned to liquidate its Georgia business and had given notice it would vacate its offices here on February 1.

The intervention of the American Surety Company was brought about

Struck by Two Cars, Man, 51, Badly Hurt

Charles Osborne, 51, living at Campbellton road and Lee street, was admitted to Grady hospital Wednesday night for treatment of internal injuries and a possible fracture of the skull received when he was struck by one automobile and then run over by another at Hemphill avenue and Eighth street.

P. J. Clairmont, a private at Fort McPherson, told police that his car first struck Osborne when he walked across the path of his automobile. Osborne was knocked to the middle of the street, where a car coming from the opposite direction ran over him.

The second car did not stop. Clairmont told police that the street light at the corner was not burning and that he did not see Osborne until it was too late to prevent striking him.

through losses suffered by W. R. Watford, cashier of the First National bank of DeKalb, Ala. The money lost by Watford in his dealings with Kopald-Quinn Company was the intervening petition stated, stolen from the American Surety Company as bondsmen for Watford.

In filing its answer to the petition Kopald-Quinn Company filed a crossbill in which it claimed $50,000 damages of Lewis because of statements made in his suit respecting insolvency and the conduct of a "bucket shop."

ATLANTA SEEKS AID FOR RIVER PROJECTS

J. M. Cooper Appears Before Waterways Congress for Approval.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(P)—John M. Cooper, of Atlanta, head of the Chattahoochee and Gulf Association, sought endorsement of the national rivers and harbors congress today for government development of the Chattahoochee-Apalachicola waterway.

The association program calls for opening navigation to Atlanta by construction of 13 dams and locks below the city and five other dams above Atlanta for flood control and generation of electricity.

About $63,000,000 would be required, Cooper said.

Army engineers have made an exhaustive study of the river, but their report has been withheld pending review of information on the economic justification of the project.

Cooper, appearing before the projects committee of the congress, contended the use of the waterway warranted the expenditure. He pointed out Atlanta was one of the few large American cities without a water outlet for commerce, and that Columbus, Ga., also would contribute largely to the river commerce. Army engineers, he said, had established the engineering feasibility of the project.

The congress projects committee, a non-government organization comprised of private engineers interested in waterways, will select projects it considers worthy throughout the country and recommend their construction under the government works program.

The cross-Florida ship canal was among the improvements favorably reported today.

Hotel Mortgage Field Is Studied by RFC

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(P)—Regulations designed to help melt the ice of assets in a fifteen-billion-dollar mortgage field, which has not here-tofore been entered by government agencies, were said authoritatively today to be in the process of formation by reconstruction corporation officials.

At the same time, and springing from the same authority, rules were said to be in preparation to enable the RFC to aid the federal housing corporation in setting up national mortgage associations to straighten out tangles encountered by that agency.

The regulations are being prepared under authority given by congress in the new reconstruction corporation act.

The prime purpose of the step was described as to enable the corporation to set up mortgage associations to refinance and bring going apartments and hotels thrown into receivership during the depression.

MRS. I. E. LUCAS, 66, DIES AT HOME HERE

Mrs. I. E. Lucas, 66, native of Talbot county and formerly a prominent resident of that section, died Wednesday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. M. Whitehead, at 572 West street, S. W., following a brief illness.

Mrs. Lucas, formerly Miss Susan Nancy Payne, daughter of a prominent Talbot county family, is survived by her husband and another daughter, Mrs. P. A. Whitehead, also of Atlanta; a son, Jess Lucas, of Atlanta; and a sister, Mrs. B. P. Burks, of Savannah, Ga.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon at Junction City, Ga., with H. M. Patterson & Son in charge.

Unusual Bible Exhibit To Open Here Saturday

More than 800 dialects containing evidences of the Bible will be a part of the Bible exhibit to be shown Saturday and Sunday from 2 o'clock to 5 o'clock each afternoon at the First Methodist church.

Beware Coughs During Epidemics

Coughing strain breaks down your resistance to the flu. Cheney's Expectorant quickly relieves coughs due to colds and thus helps build up resistance to infection.

It is wiser to use Cheney's instead of remedies containing harsh drugs that upset both your stomach and digestion. Cheney's contains the most effective as well as most soothing ingredients in a honey base that won't harm even very delicate stomachs.

Cheney's also soothes the throat, relieves dryness and pain, loosens phlegm and quiets the nerves. Ideal for children.—(adv.)

MADDOX DEFENSE WILL CLAIM ALIBI

Witness Says Slain Scott Accused White Man Before Death.

Testimony to the effect that W. A. Scott had charged a white man with firing the shot which resulted in his death was introduced Wednesday in Fulton superior court on the trial of George Maddox Jr., brother-in-law of the negro editor who was slain January 20, 1934.

Dr. C. W. Powell, negro physician, swore that Scott, while a patient in his hospital after the shooting, told city detectives in his presence a white man had fired the shot, one of which took effect in the stomach.

E. R. Hildebrand, city detective, called at a defense witness, testified Scott had told him the man was either white or a "bright" negro and he believed he had been shot as a result of ill-feeling on the part of some real estate man. Scott at the time of his death was negotiating for the purchase of the Odd Fellows building.

In a move to refute the state's contention that Scott was killed as a result of resentment on the part of the Maddox family because of the editor's marriage to Agnes Maddox, sister of the defendant, the defense produced George Maddox Sr., father of the defendant, who testified that shortly before the killing he had called a negro doctor in Washington, Ga., in an effort to procure financial assistance for Scott in his dealings for the purchase of the Odd Fellows building. Maddox testified his relations with his son-in-law were amicable at the time of his death and any differences they may have had had been patched up.

Details of Scott's marital difficulties were brought out by state witnesses, evidence charging that Scott was living with his third wife, Ella Ramsey, at the same time he was lavishing attentions on Agnes Maddox, a former school teacher. The state sought to show that the third wife of the editor had obtained a Reno divorce, after he had obtained one in Jacksonville, which his attorney had advised him was illegal, and that he continued to live with his third wife after her Reno divorce, promising to remarry her.

The defense today is expected to introduce alibi witnesses for Maddox, whom the state contends had not been in Atlanta for about two years prior to the time Scott was slain.

DR. THOMAS H. REED IS ENTERTAINED HERE

Dr. Thomas H. Reed, who is on his way to Jacksonville to confer with city officials there concerning the consolidation with Duval county, was entertained at a dinner at the Biltmore hotel Wednesday evening by Dr. C. L. Gossell, of Emory University.

Dr. Reed, in addition to being consultant of the National Municipal league, is chairman of the committee on policy of the American Political Science Association. He recently appointed Dr. Gossell to the post of chairman of the subcommittee on political economy of that organization.

Since the details of the Jacksonville-Duval county consolidation have not been definitely decided on, Dr. Reed's discussion of this new move was in general terms. In answer to questions by Mayor James L. Key, he said the combined expenses of the city and county would be reduced by at least $500,000 and possibly by $400,000.

In reply to a query relating to the handling of taxes, Dr. Reed said that several tax zones would be established and the various tax rates would be based on the services received by the inhabitants of each zone.

There are, Dr. Reed said, five cities where county and city consolidation exists—Philadelphia, Louisville, San Francisco, Denver and Baltimore. In Virginia, the state constitution permits the consolidation of county and city when the latter has a population of more than 10,000. Dr. Reed expressed the opinion that this provision was unwise; that the required city population was entirely too small.

In addition to Mayor Key, the guests present were Frank L. Carter, president of the Atlanta Bar Association; Representatives Ramsey and Thrasher; R. C. Mizell and Ray Nixon, of Ray, left for Jacksonville immediately following the dinner and will go direct from Jacksonville to New York.

Firing of Llewellyn Aired by Commission

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(P)—A dispute over a postoffice box key that led to charges of insubordination against George Llewellyn today was a radio inspector at Atlanta, Ga., was detailed to the federal communications commission today by L. C. Herndon, Seattle, Wash., who two years ago caused Llewellyn's dismissal.

The commission is holding a hearing on Llewellyn's request for reinstatement. Several members indicated during testimony today by Llewellyn and Herndon that they considered the charges on which he was dismissed as "trivial."

"Don't you think," Commissioner Prall asked Herndon, "that this was a sort of tempest in a teapot that might occur between employees in any office due to the fact that they knew they were under investigation?"

PERRY POLK KEITH, 87,
DIES IN LOUISIANA

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 6.—(P)—Perry Polk Keith, 87, one of the best-known men in Caddo parish and founder of Keithville, La., died at his home here today after an illness of more than a year.

Mr. Keith served as a member of the house of representatives from Caddo parish for 16 consecutive years.

Housing Under the New Deal

Do you live in a house? If so, you will be interested in our Washington Bureau's new bulletin, HOUSING UNDER THE NEW DEAL. It contains briefly a summary of every agency and activity of the federal government that has to do with houses and housing.

It tells about the relief of home-financing institutions, through the Federal Home Loan Banks, the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, and the Federal Housing Administration. It tells how home owners in distress can be aided through those four federal agencies; it tells how the home owner who wants to renovate or repair his home can obtain aid. Finally, it tells what the federal government is doing and plans to do to provide low-cost homes through the Federal Subsistence Homesteads Corporation, the housing division of the Public Works Administration, the Public Works Emergency Housing Corporation, the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, the Farm Credit Administration, the Federal Emergency Administration, the Farm Electric Home and Farm Authority. It gives the addresses of all federal housing agencies to whom interested persons may apply; and finally it lists thirteen government and private agencies from which house plans, floor plans, blue prints and suggestions for small house designs may be obtained free or for a small sum.

If you own or hope to own a home, fill out the coupon below and send it for this bulletin:

Dept. 230, Washington Bureau, Atlanta Constitution.
1322 New York Avenue, Washington, D. C.

I want a copy of the bulletin, HOUSING UNDER THE NEW DEAL, and enclose herewith five cents in coin (carefully wrapped), or uncancelled U. S. postage stamps, to cover return postage and handling cost:

North Avenue Students Enthuse Over Election of Superlatives

By Sally Forth.

GREAT excitement reigned at the North Avenue Presbyterian school on Tuesday when superlatives of the school were elected. The election is an annual event and is of interest to many of Atlanta's most popular sub-debs who are enrolled there. Pictures of those honored in Tuesday's election will appear in the school annual, of which Miss Jane Jackson is editor-in-chief. Carolyn Malone, who is beloved by the entire student body and faculty, was named as the most unselfish girl in the school. The honor of being considered by her schoolmates as the most attractive went to Dorothy Callaway.

The athletic prowess of Jane Ray was recognized when she was declared North Avenue's most athletic student. The happy, sunny disposition of Alma Wilby won her the honor of being named the best-natured of all the pupils in this school. When the ballot was cast for the most original girl, there was not a dissenting voice in the electing of Virginia Hollis, whose cleverness is displayed daily in a dozen different ways. Last, but by no means least, was the award to Nello O'Dell as being the school's most intellectual student, this rare gift being exploited daily, especially at examination time, when Nello's tests bring forth high marks as reward for her consistent pursuit of study.

MARION MARM, of Cleveland, Ohio, is one of the most attractive belles who have ever visited Atlanta. Remember her? You do if you were among those attending the debutante reception and ball given in 1932 by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Burnett for their daughter Sue, whom you now know as Mrs. Frank Davis. Marion visited Sue and made quite an impression on younger and older members of society. She also made a lasting impression upon none other than one of our own young medics, Dr. MacDaniel Fowler, so much so that their engagement was announced the past fall.

The marriage was scheduled for the coming April, but Uncle Sam has a way, unintentionally, of course, of upsetting the best-laid plans. Dr. Fowler has received notice of his commission as a first lieutenant in the United States army dental corps and will be stationed at Fort McPherson. For that reason, the marriage date has been set for Saturday, February 23, and will take place at the home of the bride-to-be's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Malm, in Cleveland Heights, Ohio. Dr. Charles Andrews, of Atlanta, will be the best man, and after their wedding trip they will make their home here, which is,

Says Cardui Soon Helped
"My mother was such a believer in Cardui that she gave it to me," writes Mrs. Sam Ferrara, of Hammond, La. "I was suffering with my back and side I would get so dizzy I could hardly stand and then have a weak feeling in my back. This made me very nervous and I did not rest well at night. I felt better after my first bottle of Cardui. I took two bottles and felt a great deal better. It certainly is a fine medicine."

Successfully used over fifty years. Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.—(adv.)

American Colonists.
On Friday, February 8, at 2 o'clock, at the Rhode Memorial, there will be a called meeting of the James Edward Ogden chapter, of the Daughters of American Colonists.

History Study Club Holds Meeting.
The history study club met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. John Patton on Woodland avenue in Peachtree Hills. The hostess served luncheon assisted by her mother, Mrs. L. A. Thompson, and her sister, Miss Nora Smith. The president, Mrs. J. M. Spencer, presided over a short business session and welcomed into the club a new member, Mrs. Joe Valdes. The paper for the day was prepared by Mrs. J. J. Jones, and in her absence was read by Mrs. W. L. Bryan. This meeting was the last in a series of three which have been held weekly.

On January 22 the club met with Mrs. W. L. Bryan on Peachtree Hills avenue, and the paper, "Outstanding Artistic Achievements in Post-War Germany," was given by Mrs. J. M. Spencer. On January 29 it met with Mrs. Leola Brown, and Mrs. W. L. Bryan gave the paper, "German Exports." Drama and Poetry.

Besides the club members, the guests were Mrs. W. E. Bryan, Mrs. L. A. Thompson and Miss Nora Smith. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Nelson Fairbanks, on Peachtree Hills avenue.

Miss McGuire Weds John Lane Wynn.
Of interest to a wide circle of friends was the marriage of Miss Betty McGuire to John Lane Wynn, of Monticello and Atlanta, which was quietly solemnized Wednesday, February 6, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Henry McGuire, 641 Morningside drive, N. E., in the presence of the bride's immediate family. Dr. Robert Levy officiated.

To bride wore a becoming traveling suit of maroon blue with navy accessories. Her shoulder bouquet was of Talisman roses and valley lilies. Mr. and Mrs. Wynn left on a motor trip to points in Florida. They will be at home after February 15 at 184 Thirteenth street, N. E., Atlanta.

Progressive Dinner.
The James B. Y. P. U. of the West End Baptist church entertained a progressive dinner party recently. The following members were the host: Miss Tildy Wilcox, at her home on Lee street, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Kennedy, at their home on Beecher street, Miss Sara Brook, and Miss Christine Brook on Ashby street, and Mrs. Cliff Martin and Mrs. George Griffith on West End avenue. After the last course, games were enjoyed.

The members and visitors present were Misses Lillie Lee Elliott, Annie Belle Long, Elizabeth Shouse, Janet Branch, Lottie Gore, Frances Delany, Tildy Wilcox, Marie Long, Christine Brook, Sara Brook, Mr. and Mrs. R. Ramage, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Griffin Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Gage White, Mr. and Mrs. George Griffith, Don McConnell, Harvey Kelly, Leo Hoyle, and Mrs. A. L. Delany.

Adult Union Meets.
Adult union of Capital Avenue Baptist church met Monday evening at the home of Douglas Campbell, 118 Crew street, S. W. Fred L. Barnes, president, presided.

Officers present gave interesting reports. Work of the union was discussed. The president appointed Mrs. B. M. Mason, Mrs. S. Y. Thompson and J. P. Smith as a nominating committee to report the selection of a new president at the March meeting. A social hour was enjoyed. Prizes for contests were awarded to Fred L. Barnes and B. M. Mason.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. S. Y. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Camp, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Mason, Mesdames E. E. Jackson, Stella Thrasher, W. Rebekah Lodge No. 8 Celebrates 6th Birthday
Patriotic Rebekah Lodge No. 8 celebrated the sixth anniversary recently at the lodge hall in the fraternity building at Fort McPherson. Mrs. Mattie Holt, past president; Miss Mae Greener, marshal, and Mrs. Berlie Durden, inside guardian, represented the Rebekahs Assembly of Georgia. Other lodges represented were Georgia No. 17, Piedmont No. 16, Clara No. 22, Fulton No. 14, and Kickwood No. 20. Birthday greetings were read from Miss Laura McArthur, president; Mrs. Bessie Day, matron of orphans' home at Griffin; and from members of Clara Rebekah Lodge No. 22.

Fulton degree staff, of which Miss Laura McArthur is captain, conferred the Rebekah degree on Mesdames Gladys Reid, David Atkins, Nora Vandier, Nellie Abna and Sarah Smith. After initiation, an impressive ceremony was carried out with Mrs. Loreta Seates, first noble grand, and Mrs. Clara Souter, present noble grand, bringing in the birthday cake. Refreshments were served by refreshment committee including Misses May Harry, Bertha Gossett and Nell Roberts. Rebekah Lodge meets every Thursday evening and visitors are welcome.

Miss Olive Garrett Weds Mr. Jennings.
Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Garrett, of Greenville, Ga., announce the marriage of their daughter, Olive, to William Hugh Jennings of Atlanta. The ceremony took place at 8 o'clock Friday evening at 298 1-2 Capitol avenue, S. W. Admission is 25 cents, and the public is invited.

Benefit Bridge.
City of Atlanta Council No. 2, Daughters of America, will sponsor a benefit bridge party Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Samuel McGuire, 641 Morningside drive, N. E. Admission is 25 cents, and the public is invited.

St. Paul's Class.
Young Women's Bible class of St. Paul's church met recently at the home of Mrs. W. B. Allgood with Miss Lena May Jones giving the devotion. Plans were discussed to raise money for the building fund, and it was decided to give a tacky party in March, the committee consisting of Mrs. Allgood, chairman, with Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Anderson. After business, refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Petree.

Randolph-Macon.
Randolph-Macon Woman's College Alumnae meet Saturday afternoon, February 9, at 2:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. M. B. Merts, 687 Pelham road, N. E. Mrs. Merts will be assisted by Mrs. Robert Taylor. Mothers of the students now attending Randolph-Macon will be the honor guests. Miss Sally Fanny Gleanon will speak on "Thirty Years. What?" All alumnae are invited and requested to phone Hemlock 0164.

Valentine Party.
Mrs. Jean Richardson, president of the Win One Wesley Class of the First Methodist church, is planning a unique Valentine party for the evening of February 12 in the auditorium of the church. Miss Bess DeMauney is in charge of the musical program and Mrs. G. B. Everard is chairman of the entertainment committee.

Miss Gertrude Snider Elkins Weds Mr. Smith at Church Rites in Rome

ROME, Ga., Feb. 6.—The wedding of Miss Gertrude Snider Elkins and George B. Smith Jr., was solemnized this evening before a large and fashionable assemblage at First Methodist church, with Dr. L. Wilkie Collins, pastor of the church, reading the ring ceremony. Mrs. W. O. Tarpley, church organist, played the musical program. The church was artistically decorated with garlands of smilax and tropical palms with wood ferns banking the aisle. Single and large clusters of Easter lilies studded the background of green, forming a canopy over choir loft and chancel rails. Rows of slender white chairs in the back ground added to the pretty effect and on either side of the altar pedestal candelabra held Cathedral tapers.

Bridal Party.
Before the bride party entered the church Mrs. L. M. Smith sang with unusual sweetness, "Because" and "I Love You Truly." The bridesmaids were: Misses Rena Berry, Mary Jane Dean, Bettye Ann Wright, Lucy Wootson, Willingham, Mrs. Wright King, Grace Tarver, of Aiken, S. C.; Ruth Mahone, of Macon; Julia Sewell, of Atlanta; Aimee Daniel and Miss Dahlis Smith, Miss Sarah Hewlett, of Atlanta, cousin of the bride, was her maid of honor.

Tom Willingham, Mr. Smith's cousin, was his best man, and Slaton Chapman, George Rogers, William Betts, James Roberts, of Round Mountain, Ala.; Charlie Warner Jr., Billy McWilliams, Sidney Willingham, Hugh H. Best Jr., Hamilton Yancey III, and Jack Smith were groomsmen. The bridesmaids wore yellow satin models fashioned with full floor length skirts that ended in short trains. The shimmering satin was moulded to the figure with the semi-empire line noted in the fitted bodice cut off the shoulder, with dropped puff sleeves. Shoulder straps were of the satin tied in a flat bow knot and smaller bow knots held the puffed sleeves above the elbow.

The decollete in the back was V-shaped and slightly square in front. Rows of small satin buttons trimmed the back of the bodice to the waistline. Miss Elkins wore a duplicate model of the maids' dresses in turquoise blue. The bride's attendants wore satin sandals matching in color her gowns and carried bouquets of Talisman roses, tied with satin ribbon.

Patrician Bride.
The patrician beauty of the blond bride was enhanced by her wedding gown of lustrous ivory satin made in the semi-empire line. The gown was worn by the bride's aunt, the late Mrs. Gertrude Snider Walker, when she married Colonel Leverett Walker. The fitted bodice was untrimmed save for a deep ruffle of silk brocade. The neckline was high and the long sleeves puffed at the shoulder fitted from elbow.

Wedding Journey.
Mr. and Mrs. Smith left on a motor trip to Florida and on their return to Rome will be at home in the Campbell apartments on Second avenue. The bride traveled in blue and grey tweed ensemble. The knee-length box coat had a scarlet collar, her blouse was of dark blue taffeta, and her hat of dark blue felt, was trimmed in darker blue. She wore dark blue accessories and a shoulder spray of gardenias.

Among the out-of-town guests were W. Harry Elkins, of Macon; Mrs. G. T. Tarver, of Aiken, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Weston Patterson, of Columbia, S. C.; Mrs. Carroll Scarborough, of Macon; Mrs. J. T. Mahone, of Macon; Miss Ruth Mahone, of Macon; Miss Julia Sewell, Miss Sarah Hewlett, Mrs. Sam Hewlett, of Atlanta; Mrs. Paul Willingham, Mr. Willingham, of Macon; Mrs. J. Tim Willis, of Athens.

It's a Patriotic Apron That Nancy Makes
By FLORENCE La GANKE.

because they were so stunning together. In any case she made a number of red, white and blue aprons and put them away in her gift box.

She did not select the light blue so favored by the girls, but a deep, rich white, but a deep, rich blue. The material was percale. The red was real red and the white was nothing but plain white, percale again.

The material comes one yard wide. She started with a 36 inch apron. The amount of material she required and the widths of the various pieces and stripes is given in the direction leaflet which you may obtain by following the address given below.

She made the band and the ties 4 inches wide and double.

She stitched the white and red bands together. Next she basted under the raw edge at top white band at bottom of a top white band. The two-color band was given place in the apron after the raw edge at the bottom of the apron was basted and turned up on the right side of the apron. She stretched the stretch the bottom of apron and raw edge of red strip and then after pressing, brought the two-color band up on body of apron.

The band was basted in place and then stitched, top, bottom and along the seam that joined the red and white stripe.

The stitching continued on the sides of the apron all so far as the bands covered the dark blue. The salvages were left uncut and no seam or hem was made at the sides.

The pocket was placed in position as shown on the blue material used for it was cut from one of the ties. This brings the seam of one tie and the belt band (which continues to become the other tie) about in line with the pocket and removes it from the center front of the waist band.

Tilden and Professional Troupe To Play Here on March 31

BREAK O'DAY!
By Ralph Hoke

The moment I saw that golden smile the old brain did its stuff and I was back at Douglas, Ga., on a cold, rainy spring morning.

It was the spring of 1930 and the Crackers of that year were spring training down there. And I was sitting in the press cage with Johnny Dobbs talking of this and that.

The morning train drove up just then and deposited a visitor. It was Willie Green, then a bellhop at an Atlanta hotel and the only Atlanta fan interested enough to pay the railroad fare to Douglas to see the team train.

He had on new patent leather shoes that day, did Willie Green, and about noon the sun came out and those shoes began to "draw." As I recall it, Willie suffered terribly with his dogs that day but he saw the Crackers and he sat around and smiled.

And yesterday Willie Green came in, resplendent in the uniform of a local theater, and spoke thusly, his ebony face smiling:

"Ahm taking me some treatment for dis heah high blood pressure, Mist' McGill," he said. "Cause I knows I won't be able to get through no season like we is going to have does I have me dis heah high blood pressure."

"What season is that?" I asked Willie Green.

"Why," says he, very much surprised, "dis heah baseball season. What else is they? Dese heah Crackers has got a ball club. Man, we is going to win dat pennant sho as you and me is talking. And dat's why I has got to get dis heah blood pressure treated."

"What's that go to do with baseball?" I asked Willie Green.

"Got to do with it? Why last year I yell so hard at them games I faints dead away five or six times. And this doctor tells me I can't vell with this heah pressure. And I knows I is going to yell louder than ever and I got to get dis heah pressure down. Maybe you better see about yours."

And so Willie Green went his way. I think I would rate Willie Green the No. 1 baseball fan of Atlanta. I recall those patent leather shoes of 1930 and the long trip to Douglas to see the team training. Maybe I'd better see about that pressure after all.

THOSE NEW ORLEANS PELS.

It seems to me that the Atlanta Crackers have but one club to fear this summer.

And that is New Orleans, where Larry Gilbert is to handle the club once more. Larry Gilbert remains as the greatest manager in the league until someone comes along to prove otherwise.

Nashville also will be a threat if Nashville gets more help from the Giants but this is quite unlikely. William Terry will hardly tie up with them again.

But Memphis, minus Doc Prothro, will not threaten. Little Rock, Birmingham, Knoxville and Chattanooga will hardly match up with Atlanta or New Orleans.

All Eddie Moore has to do is sit steady in the boat, line up his rookies, and hie the boys on. This looks like a ball club.

MR. WILLIAM TILDEN.

It is always a very great pleasure to listen to William Tatum Tilden II, because he is such an excellent harpioneer and can fling the old harpoon with great dexterity if the U. S. L. T. A. or the Davis cup committee happens to be the object of his aim.

William Tilden has made an estimate of our amateur tennis situation and it is even worse than it was last spring when Bill Tilden assured me the United States Davis cup team would win the doubles and nothing else because there was not a really good singles player on the team.

This year Bill Tilden has already flung his harpoon into the quivering torso of the Davis cup committee. You see, people will listen to William Tilden. They will not listen to the U. S. L. T. A.

Sidney Wood, according to our Mr. Tilden, is the only American amateur player capable of first-class tennis "at times."

Frank Shields he dismisses as being poorly equipped in strokes, possessing a bad backhand and a worse forehand.

Wilmer Allison is "past his prime."

Atlanta's Bitsy Grant is "a great marathon runner with lots of courage."

These are the names mentioned most frequently as our Davis cup hopes. I still would like to see Bryan Grant play William Tilden because I believe Grant's legs would outlast him. But the match won't be staged.

Throwing a few more bars, our Mr. Tilden declares that Fred Perry has but one stroke, "a running forehand," and consequently "has no business being champion of the world."

Jack Crawford, the Australian, alone wins the commendation of William Tilden.

"THE GREATEST PLAYER."

Tilden rates Ellsworth Vines as the greatest tennis player in the world today and I have an idea he is correct. Vines has become a new type player since he joined up with the Tilden troupe.

In second place William Tilden rates himself. I think this is very likely correct. He is 42 years old and he has been playing tennis for more than half those years. But he has the greatest pair of legs in sport and they carry him along.

It is extremely unlikely there is another tennis player in the game who can step out there and beat him, excepting, of course, Ellsworth Vines.

This is a very good indication of just what our amateur tennis has come to be. Bill Tilden, just eight years away from a half century in age, is better than any amateur we have around.

The Tilden troupe will play Atlanta next month and it is a show which should pack them in. To pass out of this existence without having seen Tilden is most inexcusable.

SHORT SHORT STORIES.

Atlanta may yet line up with Richmond on some "B" players. . . . Will Rogers angered the baseball owners by speaking at the baseball writers' dinner in New York and advising players to hold out for all the money they could get. . . . The Cardinals make a mistake in arguing with Dean about a difference of $7,500 in salary. The public is with Dean and the loss of good will means more than the $7,500. . . . Six Japanese professionals will compete in our open golf tournament next summer. . . . Dixie Howell can cash in on his Rose Bowl game to the extent of about $20,000 before beginning his baseball career. . . . What young college senior makes that much in his first year out? . . . Or third, for that matter. . . . The trouble is, so few of them bank it—even as you and I. . . . The Green-tree stable pays Silvio Coucci $15,000 per year as the star jockey of the stable.

STORM SIGNALS ARE HUNG OUT ALONG FRONT

Cards Face Great Battle With Giants, Cubs and Pirates.

By Alan Gould.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(P)—Now that the aggressive new administration of President Ford C. Frick has helped the Boston Cubs to escape from the financial shoals, for the time being, and paved the way for the first major league experiment with night baseball, National leaguers can give their undivided attention to getting ready for a pennant race that may come to duplicating last year's sensational scramble.

The storm signals already have been hung out. The holdout troubles of the New York Giants, if any, appear to be on the way to rapid settlement, but the World Champions St. Louis Cardinals have a flock of arguments to settle with hired hands before they become one big, happy and rollicking family again.

Led by the lanky Jerome Herman (Gaby) Dean, several of the Cardinals stars have joined in a salary war that probably won't subside until the spring training season is under way at Bradenton, Fla. It's the natural consequence of prosperity.

SHOWS PROFIT.

St. Louis was the only National league club to show a clean profit at the 1934 season, but it doesn't care to risk carrying too much payroll overhead, even with one of the most colorful teams in the game.

The way off only on the winners, in St. Louis, and the Cardinal "front office" so far has shown no signs of being stampeded by the fact that the club is a favorite to repeat its pennant victory.

All of which leads to the twin prospect that the world champions may be the victims of some discontent, if not actual overconfidence, as well as up against stronger competition.

Outside of the fact that the Cardinals happen to be a very rough, confident outfit, fortified by speed, power and the greatest pitching pair in baseball—the Deans—they are nothing for their rivals to worry about. For all their all-round class and confidence, however, they won't be considered the pennant in advance by any club in the league, particularly the Giants, Cubs and Pirates.

LIKES GIANTS.

Shrewd Bill McKelvie, who has troubles of his own in trying to make limited resources go a long way with the Boston Braves, thinks the Giants will have a very good chance to turn the tables on the world champions.

"New York is a great ball club, so long as its pitching holds up, and I see no reason why Hubbell, Schumacher, Farnette and Fitzsimmons should not do their full share this year," says McKelvie.

"The acquisition of Dick Bartell at short looks to me like the most useful deal any club has made this winter. He is the one man the Giants needed and they got him."

The Cubs may have a lot of power but they won't get as consistent pitching as either the Giants or Cardinals. The same thing goes for the Pirates. You will hear from Boston, if all my pitching arms turn out to be in good shape.

That makes it a five-way battle, so far as McKelvie is concerned. Jimmy Wilson, of the Phillies, and Casey Stengel, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, expect to enter the argument. Stengel enjoyed the last laugh over his inter-brother rivals, the Giants, at the close of last season and may come up with one of the most improved teams in the league, Cincinnati meanwhile is concentrating on plans to set the night baseball pace but in spite of heroic efforts the suspicion remains that the Reds, this year at least, will look the same under the lights they do in broad daylight.

ALABAMA PLAYS FLORIDA TODAY

GAINEVILLE, Fla., Feb. 6.—(P)—Coach Ben Clements today took his University of Florida basketball squad on the road for a three-day battle tomorrow night the Gators play the University of Alabama at Tuscaloosa.

Friday and Saturday nights they meet Auburn at Auburn, Ala. The clash between the Gators and Alabama will be their first encounter from the terrific met in the finals of the Southeastern conference title tournament in Atlanta a year ago.

Young Harris Wins Over Pikesville, 34-33

YOUNG HARRIS, Ga., Feb. 6.—(P)—Dropping a seven-point lead in the final minutes of the game, the Pikesville Junior College of Kentucky lost to Young Harris five here, 34 to 33.

The Kentucky kids kept the lead most of the game, only to fall down in the final minutes from the terrific charge of the Young Harris quintet. Excellent passing and shooting performances were given by both teams.

S. Jones controlling his excellent work was outstanding for Young Harris, getting 17 points and shooting a free shot that won the game in the final minute. Benedict played best for Pikesville, getting 11 points.

THE LINEUPS.

Y. HARRIS (34) P. PIKEVILLE (33)
Hurst (2) Benedict (11)
S. Jones (17) F. Smith (6)
R. Jones (8) Hollingsworth (12)

Boswell (2) McCollum (5)
Substitutions—Young Harris: Goddard 1, Latta, Turpeaud. Pikesville: Childers 4, Patterson.

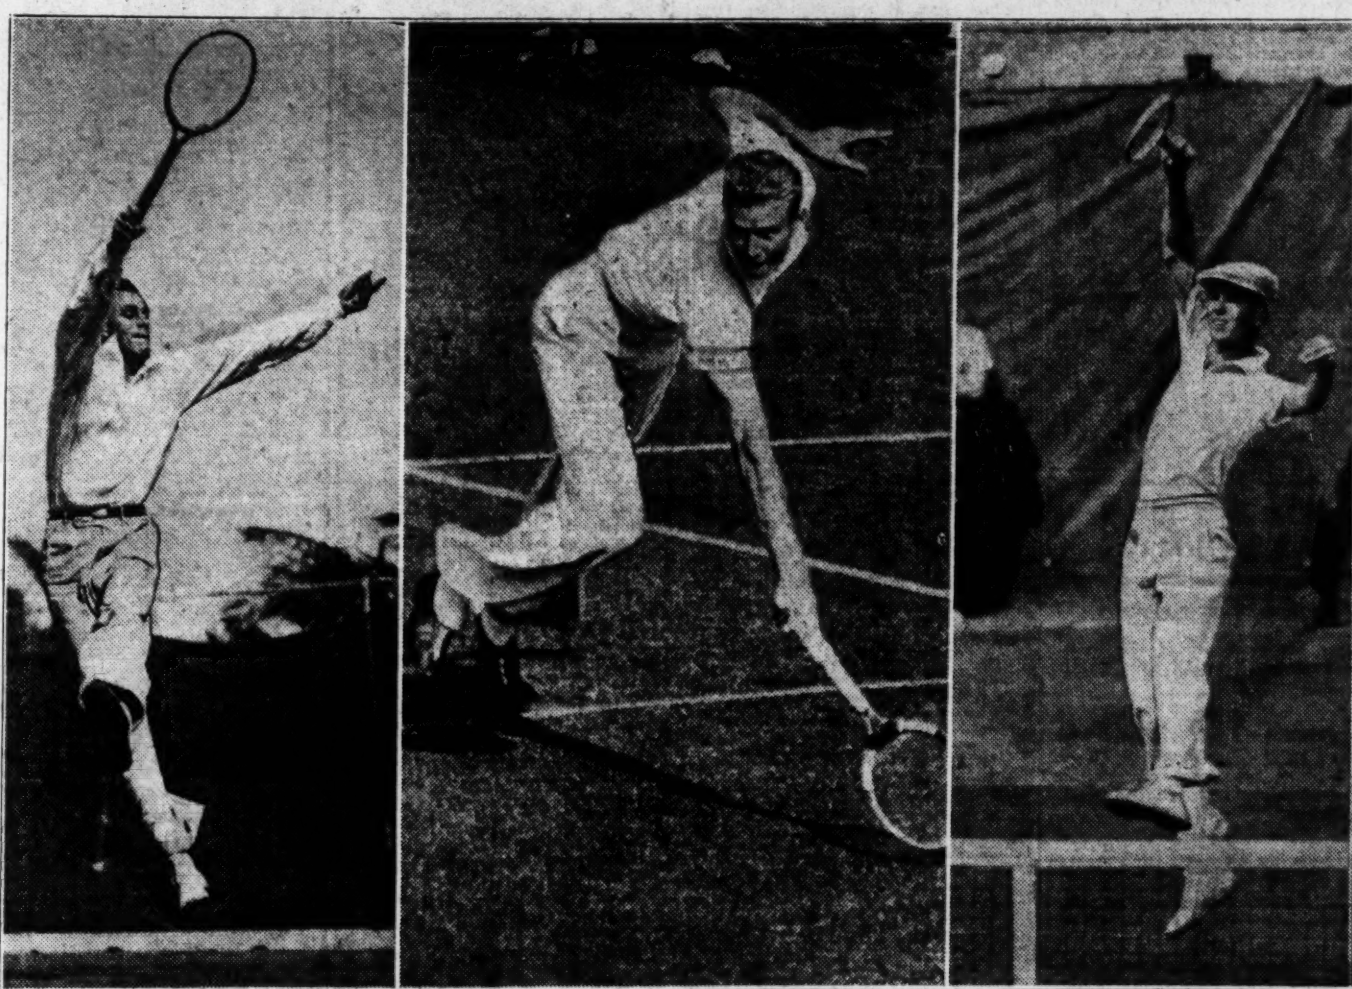

Miss Florence Rice In Rialto Picture

Miss Florence Rice, daughter of Grantland Rice, who writes daily for The Atlanta Constitution, has left the legitimate stage of Broadway for the studios of Hollywood.

It was during the Broadway run of "She Loves Me Not" that a talent scout of Columbia Pictures was attracted to Miss Rice by her blond beauty and dramatic ability and signed her to a long-term contract.

Miss Rice will make her screen debut in "The Best Man Wins," which also features Edmund Lowe and Jack Holt. This picture opens at the Rialto theater Friday.

RICE, M'ADAMS IN SEMI-FINALS

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 6.—(P)—Two of three past champions of the Artists and Writers Tennis Golf Association fell by the wayside today as newcomers pushed into the semi-final round of the ninth annual tournament.

Fontaine Fox, the cartoonist, who won last year's play, was eliminated 1 up by Charles A. Hughes, of Detroit, in a hard-fought match. Rex Beach, the writer who was 1933 champion, was set 6 and 5 by Hal Sims, the bridge expert, who shot 72, the best card of the tournament.

Fred C. Painter, of New York, who shared medalist honors with Beach, fell before Charles McAdams, 3 and 2. But Grantland Rice, sports authority and five times winner of the tournament, saved the "Old Guard" from complete defeat by downing Fred Rice, 2 up.

Rice meets McAdams and Sims plays Hughes in the semi-finals tomorrow.

American Schedule Released

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(P)—The 104-game American league schedule, released tonight, calls for the season to open April 16 and end September 29.

Opening games will be played at St. Louis, Detroit, Washington and New York against Cleveland, Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston.

Each club is scheduled for 12 Sunday games on its home grounds.

Fort Benning Gets A.A.U. Boxing Meet

The Southeastern A. A. U. boxing championships have been definitely awarded to Fort Benning Infantry School with Captain Philip Fry in charge.

They will probably be held during the early part of March, and boxers from Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia and Florida will participate.

Mays Five Beats Logansville, 34-18

LOGANSVILLE, Ga., Feb. 6.—May's Laundry five defeated Logansville, 34 to 18.

Logansville got off to an early lead of 9 to 2 in the first quarter, but the pass work of the Mays' five soon overtook this lead and breezed through to an easy victory.

Sam Smith and Jack Bledsoe led The Atlanta Constitution to victory over a hard-fighting Swift & Company team at Bass Junior High court, 20 to 19. The Swift team lost one of its players by the personal foul route in the third quarter and were forced to play the remainder with only four players as no substitutes were available.

The Baking Company defeated the Southern Freight Tariff Bureau, 15 to 14, at Hoke Smith court. Chopin and Johnston were the outstanding players.

BAKER SENTENCED.

BOSTON, Feb. 6.—(P)—Roger E. Baker, tall, bespectacled Northeastern baseball league manager and former assistant treasurer of the Diamond-Grynkraut Kid Company, was sentenced late today to 12 to 22 years in state prison on 82 counts of larceny, fraud and falsification of company accounts.

CAMPBELL'S CAR HURT IN TRANSIT

DAYTONA BEACH, Feb. 6.—(P)—Sir Malcolm Campbell's speed car, the Bluebird, bore an inch-long "fracture" on its nose this morning as mechanics opened the crate that housed the juggernaut on its jaunt from England here.

The daring Britisher seemed concerned over the mark, believed to have been caused by the speed car shifting in its crate while in transit. The bluish apparently resulting from a twisting of the body.

Campbell said that minute examination of the Bluebird will be made immediately to see if the damage is more than superficial. "That mark is not a bit funny," said Campbell in his British manner.

He declared it will be late this week "at the earliest" before the Bluebird can be taken on the beach, but he made no promises for a trial run even then. He planned to have mechanics go over the car anyway for several days.

This new Bluebird showed its beautiful body in America for the first time today as it nosed out of its packing case.

It was handled like a precious jewel. Lady Campbell and Jean Campbell also were on hand to witness the unpacking.

The car was towed across the city to a beach-side garage where it will be tuned up for its supreme effort to make possibly 200 miles an hour on the beach sometime between February 12 and 25. Campbell's present world land speed record is 272.08 miles an hour, set here in 1933.

Atlanta Rifle Club Beats Nutmeg League

Brilliant Match Fired on Indoor Range With Seven Connecticut Guests.

By Jack Troy.

Seven Nutmeg league shooters from Connecticut, bound for St. Petersburg, Fla., and the annual southeastern rifle shoot, stopped in Atlanta last night and lost a very close match to the Atlanta Rifle Club in the indoor range on Alabama street.

The seven shooters, guests of the A. R. C., included several famous figures in national and world rifle shooting. Eric Johnson is a famous maker of rifle barrels; C. E. Lyman Jr. is a famous maker of gun sights, and Fred Kuhn is a well-known representative of Remington Arms.

Other members of the party included Mrs. C. E. Lyman, who is a member of a team back in Connecticut; Harry Anthony, Kirk Wilcox and A. M. Bidwell Jr.

Mrs. Lyman, who shot with the Nutmeg team last night, will not go to St. Petersburg. She will visit friends in Miami while Mr. Lyman and the rest of the boys seek to win the southeastern championship.

WON 32 PLACES.

This same team won 32 places out of 38 last year at the St. Petersburg shoot. They are driving something like 2,000 miles to compete.

It was a brilliant match, the one of last night on the indoor range. There were two seven-man teams with the five high scores to count in the match.

The Atlanta club won by one point, with 1,000x100; the Nutmeg boys dropped one point and finished with 999. On the basis of scores of all seven shooters both teams had 1,397x1,400 with the Atlanta Rifle Club outranking the Nutmeg shooters in "X's," 116 to 99.

Fred Kuhn was high individual with 200x200. His entire string was in the X ring. A 20x possible.

DRAKE SECOND.

He was followed closely by Hal Drake Sr., of the Atlanta club, who had 200x200, but dropped one X for a 19x possible.

Mrs. Lyman, the only woman shooter, performed brilliantly, placing on the team with a 198x200 with 11x.

This, they say, of special interest to the visitors as eight of the 14 shooters use guns with barrels made by Eric Johnson and seven of the shooters used telescopes made by the Lymans. This match was fired on the range of the Atlanta Rifle Club at 30 yards. The sighting shots and 20 shots for record. The Nutmeg team leaves Thursday morning for St. Petersburg, Fla., to attend the mid-winter shoot there. This match for the southeastern championship was won last year by Harry Pascal, a member of the Atlanta Rifle Club.

How they fired in the Nutmeg league matches:

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 6.—Georgia got its first rough work in a short kicking scrimmage here this afternoon as Coach Harry Mehre began to toughen up the boys for a long skirmish on Saturday.

Gene Hinton Wins Baseball Contest

Gene Hinton, night city editor of The Constitution and an ardent baseball fan, won second prize in The Sporting News' baseball crossword puzzle contest, according to announcement in The Sporting News of yesterday.

Mr. Hinton was one of thousands competing and the award, which stamps him as a real fan with a knowledge of the game, is a genuine honor.

The contest consisted of a series of eleven cross-word puzzles. When solved each one revealed the name of one player on the Sporting News' all-star baseball team.

Second prize carried with it a cash award of $50 and with this Mr. Hinton will entertain the sports department of The Constitution with a chicken dinner.

BILTMORE CLUB TO BE SCENE OF EXHIBITION

Vines, Lott and Stoen Will Appear in Special Matches.

By Jack Troy.

What probably will be one of Atlanta's best years in tennis will be ushered in, so to speak, by Big Bill Tilden and his professional troupe on March 31 at the Biltmore Tennis Club.

Since the date falls on Sunday and the contract has been duly approved, the brilliant professional ensemble will play under the name of a worthwhile charity, it is announced.

Bill Tilden, at 42, is still one of the greatest players in the world today. His long legs continue to have the spring of youth. And those who can prove that the legs are the thing cannot understand how Bill Tilden continues to cover as much court as he does in week-in-and-week-out play.

LEGS HOLD OUT.

The Tilden legs are still good, however. Baseball players, boxers, football players and all other types of athletes may find their legs failing them at 40, but not Bill Tilden. His have the spring and the flexibility that amaze.

Members of the troupe include, besides Tilden, Ellsworth Vines, George Lott and Lester Stoen. Lott and Stoen are newcomers to professional tennis.

All four have played in Atlanta before. Tilden has been here several times. Vines played here last year. He is, incidentally, rated as the leading player in the world by Tilden. The second best player? Well, that's Bill Tilden, according to the Tilden rating.

MARATHON SET.

Stoen and Lott put on a marathon set here one year. They played something like 40 games, ending in a deadlock, exhausted, as darkness halted their struggle at the Biltmore Club.

Doubles winners in Davis cup play last year against England, Lott and Stoen are considered the greatest tandem in the world.

Lott and Tilden do not have a great love for each other. Never have. Their professional relationship has changed their attitude toward each other.

They'll probably meet in a singles match, with Stoen and Vines in the other singles match. Then they will tie up in the doubles, with Tilden and Vines meeting Lott and Stoen.

Greater exhibitions of tennis are not seen than the exhibitions of Tilden and his company, handled by Bill O'Brien. It is to be a fitting opening of a very promising season.

The Atlanta Invitation follows on April 8, with such stars as Bryan Grant, Wilmer Allison, Donald Budge and Gene Mako participating.

The latter tournament is to be held at the Biltmore Club also. Reg Fleet and Malon Courts are the sponsors. The Tilden exhibition is to be sponsored by Billy and Marion Reese.

CALIENTE MEET FACING THREAT

By Paul Zimmerman.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., Feb. 6.—(P)—With the inclement weather holding a threat of postponement, 200 top flight players will meet here at the first tee tomorrow for the fifth annual Agua Caliente championship.

The forecast called for added rain after a heavy downpour here today. This week has left the course sodden. If it comes, officials said play might be set up one day for the 72-hole event with its $5,000 in cash prizes along with 10 per cent of the parimutuel wagering on each round.

Except for Gene Sarazen, winner of the first event here five years ago, and Paul Runyan, national P. G. champion, most of the country's best players were on hand. Runyan was called away on business while Sarazen refused to play because of the established record of betting on the players this season.

Three champions here, including the defender, Willy Cox, were on hand to try their luck against Fred Morrison and George Von Elm completed the titled threesome. Others looked upon with favor to walk off with the $1,000 prize money were Harold McSpaden, Kansas City, Kas., leading money winner in the California tournament this winter; Vic Ghezzi, Deal, N. J.; and Donald Smith, who won the medal play at Oakmont, and Horton Smith, who always has placed high here.

N. G. I. C. Draws Pairings Today

A meeting of the North Georgia Intercollegiate Conference will be held at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Fulton High School building on Washington street.

Pairings for the annual basketball tournament to be held next week on the Russell High court in East Point will be the principal topic of discussion.

J. G. Lewis, chairman of the tournament committee, stated Wednesday that every member of the conference will be represented in the tournament, giving the committee 13 teams in the pairing.

Gainesville High won the tournament last year, beating Decatur High in the final on the Chickasaw Mills court in Gainesville.

Smithies, Purples Clash at Henry Grady Court Tonight

BIG FOUR TITLE IN THE BALANCE; TEAMS ARE EVEN

Game Marks Ending of First Half in City League.

By Roy White.

Tech High and Boys' High will open their 1935 athletic wars at 8 o'clock tonight on the Henry Grady court in the prep basketball feature of the week. The game also marks the ending of the first half of the Big Four league, with Boys' High leading.

Both teams held light workouts Wednesday afternoon, following their games Tuesday. The Purples went on top in the standings with a last quarter rally against Commercial High, as Tech High met a strong hustling bunch of G. M. A. guards and was turned back.

SMITHIES UPSET.

The starting lineup of Tech High by G. M. A. and Boys' High's great rally against Commercial, gives the teams an even break in tonight's game.

Tech High started strong and was booming along the unbeaten pathway until a lanky Columbus High center wrecked the Smithies. Then G. M. A. sprang the biggest upset of the season on Tuesday, lowering the Smithies to second place, and giving the Big Four race plenty of excitement for the second half.

After a slow start Boys' High began to pick up momentum several weeks ago and now rates with the best in prep circles. The fast development of Jim Bagby Jr., at center, has been the mainstay of the Purple attack. It was Bagby's great work in the closing minutes which beat Commercial Tuesday.

STARTING TEAMS.

Tech High will start with Tinsley and Butler, forwards; Sisk, center; and Captain Schutte and Towery, guards.

Boys' High's lineup consists of Hickman and Ginsburg, forwards; Bagby, center, and Beard and House, guards.

Both teams are supplied with capable reserves for every position, so it will be a battle of two well-balanced teams tonight on the Henry Grady court.

Fulton Defeats Druid Hills, 27-23.

Fulton High remains undefeated in the North Georgia Interscholastic conference basketball game with a 27-23 victory over Druid Hills High Wednesday afternoon on the J. P. C. court.

It was one of the hardest-fought games of the year, with neither team having any advantage until the closing minute, when Fulton forged into the lead and won out.

Druid Hills took an early lead and was ahead, 7 to 4, in the first quarter. The score was tied at 11 all at the half. Fulton enjoyed a one-point lead, 21 to 20, as the fourth quarter began.

Bobby Moore, young brother of Virlyn Moore Jr., former University of Georgia star, was outstanding. His play was particularly good in the fourth quarter. Moore made one of the most difficult shots of the year in the second half when he scored two points over his shoulder and while falling to the floor. He also passed well.

McDonald at center played well for Fulton, both on the offense and defense. McDonald was second in all points scored with nine and scored the goal that started Fulton to victory in the last quarter. Roache, Clifford and Hollingsworth played best for the losers.

The lineups: D. HILLS (23) Pos. FULTON (27) Center (1) Pos. F. Moore (11) Hollingsworth (3) F. Brandon Gifford (3) G. Moore (1) Roache (7) G. Moore (1) Brooks (1) Schwartz (6) G. Moore (1) Hollingsworth (3) Substitutions: D. Hills, Gifford (3); ref. on, Doran; umpire, Bond.

Chess Club Presents Exhibition Tonight

Fred Reinhold, internationally-known player and winner of the Marshall Chess Club trophy of New York, will play a simultaneous exhibition at the Atlanta Chess Club's rooms in the Atlanta hotel at 8 o'clock tonight.

The public is invited to attend. A small fee will be charged those desiring to play in the exhibition.

Malone Joins Dizzy As Card Holdout

Pitcher Says Next Move Is Up to Rickey; He's Not Worrying.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Big Pat Malone, fast ball pitcher traded to the St. Louis Cardinals last fall by Chicago, linked up alongside Dizzy Dean as a holdout today with announcement here that he had returned his contract unsigned to the Cardinal management.

"If Branch Rickey thinks I will play for the figure he offered me, he's crazy," said the National League strikeout king of 1929, who is here with his wife.

Malone said he was financially fixed to where I can rest this year, who is here with his wife.

Malone added that he didn't intend to worry about the matter. The next move is up to Rickey, he said.

Although he would not reveal the price tag the Cardinals management placed on his ability for the season, Malone indicated it represented a substantial reduction from the sum he received last year as a member of the Cubs.

Malone said Rickey sent him the contract shortly after he was traded to the Cardinals and that he returned it to the Cardinal business manager within two hours after receiving it.

Robust and a mere 32, Malone declared that he is alone way from "being through."

Difference with Manager Charlie Grimm, of the Cubs, kept him from being a starting pitcher the latter part of last season, Malone said, and that to reason he attributed the fact that he was unable to win more games.

His record for last season shows 14 victories against seven defeats, and he won eight of the last nine games he started. The last game he started for the Cubs was in the middle of August and he shut out Philadelphia with two hits and struck out 12 men on that occasion.

"I believe I will win more than 20 games this season; I like work and the more I work the better brand of ball I pitch," said Malone.

In his own opinion, the Cards will repeat this year but not just because he is on the team. He picks the Giants to finish second and the Pirates third.

Schoolboy Rowe Still Unsigned.

EL DORADO, Ark., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Schoolboy Rowe today was reported still dissatisfied with the contract offered him by the Detroit Tigers, although it was said his opinion would be reserved until he reports for spring training on March 1.

Rowe was understood to have received his first offer two months ago and returned it promptly without revealing the terms. He was said to have been offered $8,500 and that the price for the Tigers is asking $12,500 for his services this season.

No confirmation of the reports concerning Rowe's contract troubles has been obtained here as the boy is visiting his mother, Mrs. W. T. McGlothlin, at Dallas, Texas. His father, Thomas Rowe, said the Schoolboy would return next Monday or Tuesday.

JORDAN FACES LUTZ FRIDAY

Tarzan Jordan, as good a light heavyweight wrestler as the south at- fords today, has forgot all about retiring and is going to bid for greater recognition on the mat.

Jordan has a great physique. And he missed only by a couple of points being selected for the role of Tarzan in the movies.

Jordan wrestles Hans Lutz, of St. Louis, in the semi-windup of Friday's card at the city auditorium. And he faces a great battle. His muscles will stand him in good stead, for Lutz seems Lutz's long suit is roughing.

And it is said that he makes it profitable in wrestling.

Honey Boy Hackney, great New Jersey light heavyweight, engages Sammy Miller, Syrian champion, in the feature match.

And in the opening there will be a fine battle between Fred Ward, who wrestles under the name of Young London, and Bad Boy Norman.

Tickets are on sale at the Five Points Soda Company or may be reserved by calling Ma. 2539. Popular prices prevail.

COLLINS, POWELL BATTLE TONIGHT

Turk Powell, Fort Benning army champion, will meet "Wild" Bill Collins in the feature match at the Lakewood Heights arena tonight on Promoter Frank Bettis' card.

Collins, a high wrestler who claims he will stop Powell in two straight falls, winner take all match, will be lucky to come through with a victory in the main event.

Joe Clancy, the bearded wrestler from Cincinnati, weighing 210 pounds, will meet Chippewa Charlie McClain in the semi-final match.

Leon Fuller, the up-and-coming Atlanta wrestler, will meet Foxy Rivers in the opening 45-minute match. These two boys show plenty of action.

Parents of Dionnes Tour Chicago, Refuse Champagne for Soda Pop

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Olivia and Elzire Dionne—they're out to have a good time in the big city—went on a soda pop spree today.

The Dionne quintuplets, who have been in the presidential suite of a swank hotel in the city since they were born, put the question: "What'll you have? The drinks are on the house."

"Red pop," the quintuplets' parents decided.

A half-dozen bottles were brought up from cellars that also were stocked with champagne and fine wines.

The supply lasted but an hour. Then the Canadian visitors went places and saw things—the stockyards, the World Fair grounds, the parks, the boulevards, the glittering stores.

A curious crowd gathered about the couple at the livestock pens. An official reminded Olivia he had boasted of being the "world champion sheep shearer."

He met the challenge. Donning overalls he caught up a clipper. While the Dionnes gazed on, he went to work on the sheep. He grabbed a lamb, flipped it over and gave it a quick haircut.

"She has shorter hair than ours," he observed.

"He knows his shearing," a workman allowed.

JACKETS STAGE GREAT RALLY TO WIN, 25 TO 24

Hyder Stars for Tech as Auburn Puts Up Hard Fight.

The Yellow Jacket stung the Tiger last night when Tech rallied to win a thrilling overtime victory, Auburn, 25 to 24, in the final home game of the season.

Five minutes after the start of the second half and with the count 19 to 10 in Auburn's favor, the Jackets snapped out of their lethargy and by quick breaking soon drew up to within two points before Auburn tallied again.

Then, with only three of the fast-breaking minutes remaining and Auburn, due to a goal by Sinder and two fouls by Rodgers following each other, leading 24 to 20, Glenn and Bouliere made good on free tosses to which was added a long follow shot by Hyder, who played brilliantly, and the locals trailed by only one point again.

Auburn next got the ball, missed on a try, Tech recovered and came charging back down the court, only to also miss a heave at the basket. But the ever-present Hyder grabbed the ball on the rebound and put it in to send Tech ahead for the first time. They never relinquished it, for the roar of the crowd had hardly died before the timer's whistle ended what had developed into a thrilling game.

Jackets had won their second straight.

During the first half the Tigers outplayed the winners, closely guarding them and never giving them a chance to get set for a shot. Mitchell, at center, starred for the Plainmen and was their leading scorer with eight points. Eaves, forward, an Atlanta standout, played nicely.

Hyder, with 11, and Bouliere, forward, who rang seven points, led the offensive for Tech.

EMORY SOPHS WIN FIRST HALF

Repulsing the attack of the Seniors, 25-17 Wednesday afternoon the Sophomores completed the first half of play in the intramural league at Emory with the perfect record of seven victories. They now hold wins over every team in the league.

Manuel Kulbersh was the big gun in the Sophomore attack Wednesday. Kulbersh shot 15 points, just two less than the entire Senior squad could garner. McKay sank seven points for the Seniors, and Chambers scored six.

Play in the second half of the intramural tournament will begin Friday. Another meeting between each of the eight teams will comprise the last seven rounds of the tourney, extending for three more weeks.

LARGE NUMBERS GREET MEAGHER FOR FIRST WORK

Auburn Prospects for 1935 Grid Team Are Only Fair.

AUBURN, Ala., Feb. 6.—There would be no doubt in the minds of football boosters about Alabama Polytechnic Institute's 1935 grid edition stacking up favorably with the best in the Southeastern Conference if numbers indicated quality instead of figures.

Coch Jack Meagher, inaugurating his second term at the helm of Auburn's football forces, was greeted with a turnout of 84 at the initial spring drill and it is highly probable that close to 100 will receive uniforms within the next few days.

Among the large number out for positions on the 1935 Plainsmen eleven are a few holdovers who were not in school in the first semester. The newcomers include three who might be of value to Skipper Meagher. They are Bunky O'Rourke, halfback, a whirlwind as a frosh in 1932; Robert Wright, end, and Welch Huckaby, a slow 210-pound tackle. These boys all have the size and at times have displayed potential ability.

They dropped out of school for a while. Both O'Rourke, the most likely looking of the trio, and Huckaby are eligible for two seasons of varsity campaigning and Wright is only a sophomore.

The tackle department being fortified with both outstanding regular and varsity material from last year, Huckaby will have a harder time winning varsity recognition than either Wright or O'Rourke.

Moore Contacts Four Major Clubs

Cracker Manager En Route Home After Conference With Connie Mack.

By Ralph McGill.

Eddie Moore is homeward bound today after contacting four major league clubs.

The Cracker manager pow-wowed with Connie Mack all day Wednesday, learning that Connie had effected a working agreement with the Richmond Colts, a club the Crackers were considering using for "B" players. Also that Connie would give any help possible.

Before that visit to Philadelphia, Eddie Moore had visited with the Yankee officials in New York, with Bill Terry's Giants and with the Brooklyn, who are managed by Casey Stengel.

Down the Alley

Bell System Duckpin league bowlers are stepping up their averages this season, over last year, and this improvement is noted on practically every member of the league's scoring.

This 12-team league affords six good matches this evening, with Atlanta Main bowling Western Electric Company; A. T. & T. Company playing Atlanta Vainut; Accounting vs. Plant Engineers; District Manager vs. Georgia Plant vs. General Plant; Maintenance Engineers vs. Traffic.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce loop bowling interest has increased to the extent that the league is seriously considering adding two more teams to the roster. The new interest is due, to some extent, to the close race for the first title in which four of the six teams figured right down to the last night's bowling.

National Life & Accident Insurance, league leaders, tie up with Signal Mountain Cement Company; Hardware Dealers vs. Norris Candy; Wofford Oil vs. Parks Printing. The ladies' league will have the Strikers, Mazdas, Jayettes and Crescents active.

The Coca-Cola Club Bird league of Robins, Eagles, Hawks, Blue Birds, Parrots, Canaries, will have their usual exciting contests, in which employees of the company are building up some good individual averages.

Frank Burns, anchor man of the Fox Manufacturing Company, bowled the high series for the Capital City Duckpin league last night, amassing a three-game total of 370, which included games of 103, 124, 143. Fox won two games from the Independents.

Excelsior Laundry continued to go places in winning two from Atlanta Paper Company; Grey Devils bowled big scores to win three from S. E. Brewing Company; Southern Freight Tariff Bureau dropped two to Tri-State Construction company.

In the Power Club leagues, the Sales boys General; Accounting meets Transportation; Distribution vs. Operating, will be the lineup for the men. In the ladies' league, Dynamos bowls Kilowatts; Circuit Breakers vs. Live Wires.

COTTON FUTURES LITTLE CHANGE

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(P)—The urb market finished with a mixed trend today. Except in scattered instances, variations were limited to minor fractions. Volume increased moderately over yesterday.
 Pepperell Manufacturing virtually canceled its 5-point advance of the previous session. Slight recessions were recorded by Swift & Company, Hewmont, Sherwin-Williams, American Cyanamid, B. Electric Bond &
 Share, Hiram Walker and Gulf Oil.
 Transfers approximated 127,000 shares, compared with 100,000 the day previous.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Steel activity continued to expand last week, said Iron Age today in its weekly summary. The current rate of production is estimated at 561.2 percent of capacity against 56 last week.

A recession is looked for, according to the report, although because in the industry is that output will level off.

The prediction was pointed out, however, that the current quarter will be maintained well through next quarter provided there are no serious disturbances, although additional incurrences.

Continued the review, "are the reasons that the upswing in the industry is losing momentum." The iron and steel industry in sustaining momentum is being maintained by the record-breaking output in January.

steady, the general market closing lower.

The opening was quiet at a decline of 1/2 to 2 points in response to a decline pointing 1 1/2 to 2 points in pool cables. Comparatively light offerings were absorbed by covering or trade bids and the market held generally steady and within a

There was a little buying on reports of a further reduction of about 130,000.
On the estimates of the Indian to be fairly, however, orders seemed developed near the close, following an easier turn in the stock market.

Reports from Washington that the anti-dumping act had been responsible

COTTON IN NEW ORLEANS
DECLINES 3 TO 4 POINTS
NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 8.—(A—)
The cotton market was rather quiet most of today. Prices but developed somewhat more activity in the late afternoon. Prices fluctuated rather steadily and showed a slight downward tendency. After opening 3 points down prices eased off 2 to 4 points additional, but recovered 2 to 4 points at the end. The influences in the market were the fear of the gold decision and easier outside markets. The close was steady at net declines for the day of 3 to 4 points. The market here was closed next Tuesday, Lincoln's birthday.

The opening was easier as Liverpool crabbles came in lower than due, but the morning was steady. Private dealers expected that trade and Alexandria would be buying in the Liverpool market was heavy by Bombay. A straddle selling, though business was limited pending the gold decision.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow which will be a heavy day.

'SHARE THE WEALTH' CLUB FORMED HERE

Dr. Gerald Smith Tells Group Program Will Be 'Band Wagon' Next Month.

Today, Senator Huey P. Long's "share the wealth program" is a band wagon, but next month it will be a band wagon, Dr. Gerald Smith, of Baton Rouge, La., told 50 new members of the movement at an organization meeting held at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night at the Ansley hotel. "The latest figures show that we are increasing at the rate of 100,000 a week," he said. "We are the most irresistible tide of public opinion since the World War."

Governor Talmadge came in for praise, when Dr. Smith said, "You can thank God that you have a fearless governor. He is the first governor in the United States to put his arm around the movement and his future is made."

"I challenge any public official in Georgia to make a 10-minute speech against the redistribution of wealth. I will wager anything I have that he will not be returned to office, so great is the rising tide in our favor. We have seen this happen in Texas and

KAMINSKI MUST DIE FOR SLAYING GUARD

BOSTON, Feb. 6.—(UP)—Alexander Kaminski, 24-year-old New Briton, Conn., gunman, must die in the electric chair the week of February 17 for slaying Guard Merritt W. Hayden during one of two sensational escapes from Hampden county jail at Springfield.

Governor Curley and his council abandoned Kaminski to a murderer's fate today, denying his plea for commutation of sentence to life imprisonment. A 30-day respite for the slayer expires the night of February 16.

In many other places, and it can happen in Georgia." Outlining the policies of the organization Dr. Smith pointed out five outstanding principles. They are to pay the soldiers' bonus, to establish an old-age pension, to enforce short working hours, a wide program of expansion of the country's resources, and to apply the mental test rather than the money test to judge a person's educational policies. The redistribution of wealth is the paramount issue of the movement.

Mrs. H. P. Loveless, prominent resident of West End and wife of a well-known Atlanta businessman, died Wednesday morning at the residence, 1745 South Gordon street, S. W., following a brief illness.

A member of the West End Garden Club and Park Street Methodist church, Mrs. Loveless had been a resident of Atlanta most of her life and was closely identified with the affairs of her community. In addition to her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Miss Jane Loveless; a son, H. P. Loveless Jr.; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George G. Greenoe; three sisters, Mrs. W. A. Akridge, Mrs. J. O. Reed and Miss Louise Greenoe; and three brothers, A. P., George P. and Marion Greenoe, all of Atlanta.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Park Street Methodist church, with the Rev. Fred L. Glisson and the Rev. Y. O. Oliver officiating. Burial will be in West View cemetery.

Newspaper Advertising Urged on Loan Bodies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP)—Newspaper advertising was recommended to federal savings and loan associations by the home loan board which announced today that a series of 26 advertisements have been prepared and are being sent to members of the federal savings and loan associations by the home loan board.

The advertisements are to be paid for by the local institutions, the board having taken the stand that it is not the function of the bank to advertise at federal expense. Preparations for the advertisements were paid out of a fund of $650,000 appropriated by congress for promoting and organizing federal savings and loan associations.

The advertisements have been prepared with a view to aiding especially those associations which are not equipped to write advertising.

KENTUCKY TRUCK LAWS UPHOLD BY SOLICITOR

COVINGTON, Ky., Feb. 6.—(AP)—Stephens L. Blakely, city solicitor of Covington, came today to the defense of a magistrate whose enforcement of Kentucky's trucking laws has been called a "racket" by Governor Talmadge, of Georgia, and others.

"As far as I have been able to determine from the investigation of fact in two cases," the attorney said, "the only crime which I am able to find S. P. Race, magistrate of the second district, guilty of, is the enforcement of the laws."

The cases he investigated, he said, were referred to him by the Covington Chamber of Commerce, which contended the incidents, if true, were contrary to the business interests of the city. A Kenton county grand jury yesterday reported such complaints as had been referred to it were justified, and recommended that offending constables be prosecuted or removed from office.

Luther H. Bartlett, 50, was admitted to Georgia hospital Wednesday afternoon with a fractured right leg and a possible skull fracture, received when he was knocked down by a car driven by Fred H. Johnston, 1555 Lee street, Bartlett, driver of the Domestic Laundry Company, was struck as he was getting into his truck.

Homer Folds, 1375 Beattie avenue, crashed into a telephone pole while driving on Stewart avenue Wednesday. He was treated at Grady hospital for minor injuries and released.

A. F. Reeves, of Hapeville, lost $10 in a downtown theater Wednesday when, it is believed, three men passed his seat in the theater and picked his pockets. John Rabb, 433 Oakland avenue, told police that he saw the three take the money and drive over to the theater, but was unable to catch them.

Alleged bogus payroll checks drawn on the Georgia highway department made payable to David James and signed by William K. Stevenson came to the attention of the Atlanta police department Wednesday. According to reports, all the checks have been for $25 and between 15 and 20 of the checks have been cashed by a man described as blond, five feet and eight inches tall, weighing about 145 pounds, and wearing a small mustache.

Four men and a woman, charged with conspiracy to defraud the government on liquor revenue, waived preliminary hearing in United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith's court Wednesday and were bound over to the federal grand jury, now in session. Otis Wood was placed under $1,000 bond and Mrs. Ethel Bolling, Lloyd Bailey, Mincey bond and Frank Bearden under bond of $500 each.

R. F. Woodruff, 20, of 732 Grant street, S. W., was taken into custody Wednesday night by Atlanta police after being found sitting in an allegedly stolen car at Piedmont avenue and Eighth street. According to police records, the car was stolen Monday from a parking lot at Cain and Ivy streets, and is the property of A. G. Moser, of 743 Bonaventure avenue.

Fulton County League of Women Voters will meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the commissioner's room at the county courthouse. Walter LeCraw, assistant solicitor-general, and Kenneth Murrell, commander of the American Legion, Atlanta Post No. 1, will talk on "The Menace of Communism." Illustrations of their talks with communistic literature and charts now on display before the legislature at the state capital.

Interesting program centering around the life of Thomas Jefferson will be presented at the monthly meeting of the Georgia Woman's Democratic Club at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Atlanta Athletic
